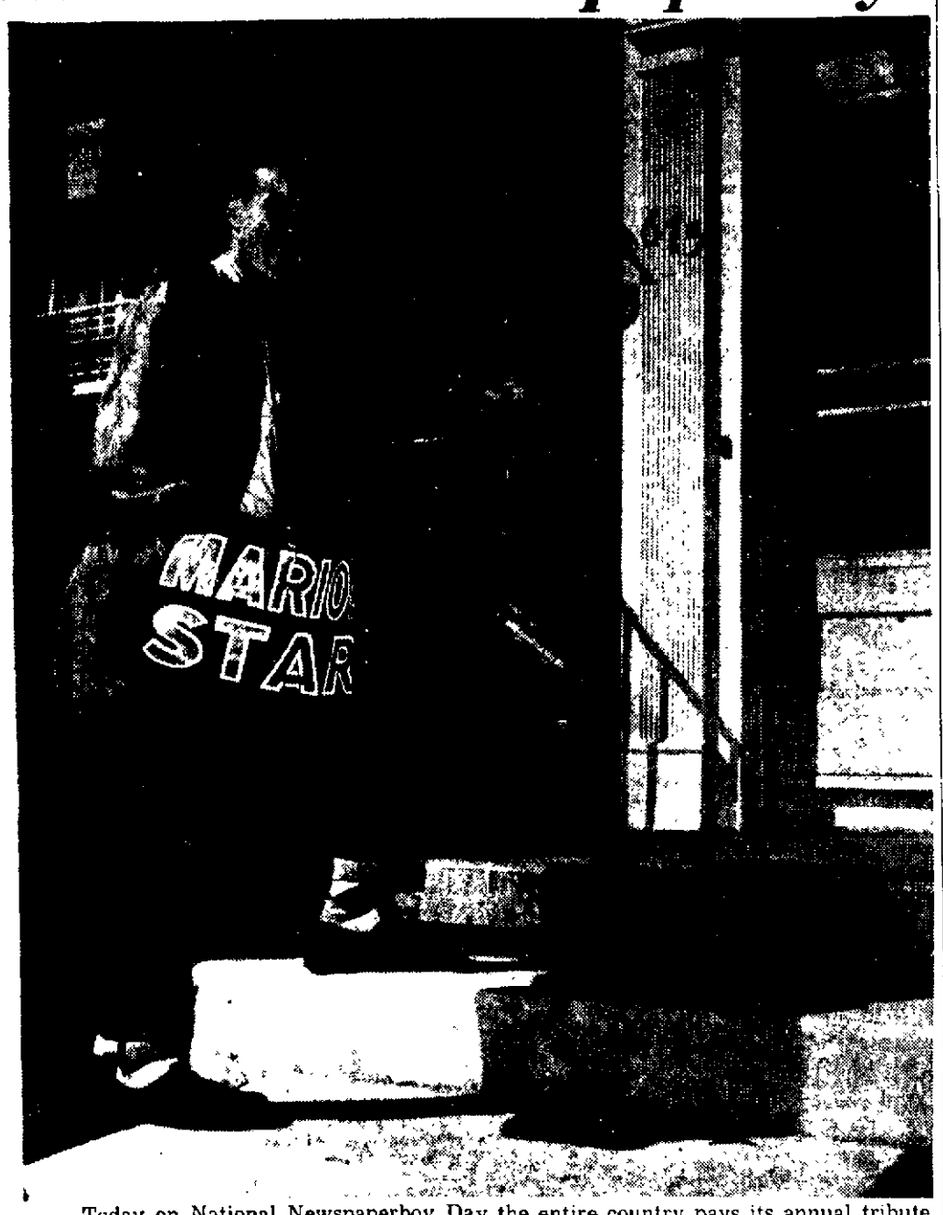
Nation Hails Newspaperboys



Today on National Newspaperboy Day the entire country pays its annual tribute to the junior businessmen who make their rounds in all kinds of weather to deliver the newspapers to the nation's homes. Typical of these newspaperboys is John Thomas, 15, pictured here, who is the third member of his family to carry a route for The Marion Star. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Thomas of 1059 E. Center St, he carries a route in Vernon Heights as did his brother, Joseph, before him. Joseph is now a sophomore at Denison University. The oldest brother, Richard, now in Denmark on a Fulbright scholarship after graduating from Kenyon College, once carried a Star route on Chicago, Madison and Franconia avenues.

Allies Refuse Longer Time For Repatriation of POWs

Clark Rejects Bid of Neutral Commission

Deadline Is Dec. 24 On Efforts To Change Minds of Prisoners

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The U.N. Command today refused to extend beyond the official Dec. 24 deadline the period in which the Allies and Communists may try to change the minds of war prisoners who have refused to go home.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, retiring U. N. commander, reaffirmed Allied opposition to extension of the "explanation" period shortly before he took off for Tokyo after a last inspection tour in Korea.

"We cannot be a party to breaking faith with the anti-Communist prisoners of war," he said.

Asked by Neutral Group

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission had asked for a deadline extension because of delays in getting the explanations program underway. Neither the Allies nor Communists would accept compounds constructed for the purpose. The 90-day period for explanations was to have started Sept. 26.

Clark's refusal was sent to the repatriation commission—of which India is chairman—following two days of rioting by anti-Communist prisoners. Three POWs were killed and 10 wounded by Indian guards.

In Seoul, meanwhile, South Korea's President Syngman Rhee said he was shocked at the bloodshed in prisoner compounds guarded by the Indians.

Calls It 'Murder'

Acting Foreign Minister Cho Chung Whan called the deaths of anti-Communist prisoners "criminal acts of murder."

"We wish to solemnly warn them (the Indians) that if they do not rectify immediately the evil acts being committed we shall be forced to take up arms against them," Cho declared.

The acting foreign minister charged that "The Indians profess to be neutral but are acting really as Communists."

"We demand that they frankly side with the North Koreans and Chinese Communists by sending their armed forces and fight against us," he declared.

Confers With Gen. Hull

Clark's refusal to extend the explanations period was sent to the repatriation commission after the U. N. commander had conferred with Gen. John E. Hull, his successor, and other high ranking officers.

As Clark and Hull wound up a brief tour of Korea, both advised fighting men on the front not to trust the Communists and to be ready for anything.

Brig. Gen. A. L. Hamblen, who handles prisoner matters for the U. N. Command, relayed the Allied refusal to extend the persuasion period in a letter to Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the five-nation repatriation commission.

Hamblen said the Korean armistice specifically fixes periods for each phase of the prisoner exchange.

New Marion YMCA Ready for Opening

The new Marion YMCA building as seen from the front on E. Church St. The new structure will be dedicated Sunday at 2 p.m. The building cost $900,000 and took about one and and one-half years to build. Following the dedication a week of open house will be observed.

Program Starts at 2

Dedication Set Sunday; Open House Will Follow

Dedication of the new Marion YMCA building on E. Church St. will be held Sunday at 2 p.m.

Following the dedication program, a week of open house will be held at the building. The public is invited to the dedication and to the open house, which will be observed from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, Sunday the building will be open until 9 p.m. after the dedication.

The dedication ceremony will feature an address by Dr. George A. Bowman, superintendent of Marion schools from 1929 to 1934, and now president of Kent State University.

The program will be held in the south gymnarium, located on the second floor of the new building. Temporary seats have been set up in the gym. They are capable of holding about 700 persons.

PRESIDING will be Ben T. Wiant, a member of the dedication and new building committees. Giving the invocation will be Rev. Howard L. Olewiler of the First Presbyterian Church.

He will be followed by a chorus sung by the Serenaders directed by L. G. Jones. Mr. Wiant will then introduce the persons who were influential in the planning and directing of the building campaign.

Following another song by the Serenaders, presentation of the keys to the building will be made by representatives of the Knowlton Construction Co., general contractors for the building, and Sims Cornelius, and Schooley, architects for the building.

ACCEPTING THE KEYS will be representatives of the building committee and A. W. Kette, president of the YMCA board of directors.

Dr. Bowman will then make his address. Before he was superintendent of schools here, he served as superintendent in Chillicothe. He later filled the same post in Lakewood and Youngstown.

In 1944, he left Lakewood to assume the duties of president of Kent State. Dr. Bowman is past president of the Ohio Education Association. In 1944, he was vice president of the National Education Association.

After his talk, a doxology will be sung, followed by a benediction by Rev. Harold V. Falvor of the Oakland EUB Church. The benediction will mark the close of the dedication ceremonies.

AFTER THE PROGRAM, those persons in attendance will be invited to go through the building on an inspection tour.

The dedication will climax a three year effort to bring the new building into existence. It takes the place of the building used since the 1890s. It was made possible by a fund campaign, in which groups, individuals, businesses and industry made contributions.

Started in 1950, the campaign raised about 80 per cent of the money needed to pay for the building. Contributions are still sought by the board of directors of the "Y."

This is one of the most modern buildings of its type in the country. It is equipped to meet the needs of the community as far as is possible for any YMCA to do.

EQUIPPED WITH modern gymnasiums, a swimming pool, dorm rooms, and recreational facilities for both men and women, the new building is designed to serve the youth and adults of the community for years to come.

The dedication Sunday marks the finish to over one and one-half

Scandal Hits N.Y. Officials, Labor Leaders

Visits of Government, Union Men to Convict In Sing Sing Disclosed

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Political and labor circles in New York and New Jersey reverberated today to echoes of an official disclosure that government and union officials visited labor racketeer Joseph S. (Joey) Fay in prison.

The bombshell came yesterday in the form of a list of Fay's visitors at Sing Sing prison released by the New York State Department of Correction. Among the more than 80 names was that of Arthur H. Wicks, acting lieutenant governor of New York.

The disclosure prompted a demand from Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for a "complete and satisfactory explanation."

Wicks countered with a statement that his calls on Fay in Sing Sing prison were "a public service . . . to avoid labor troubles" in his state senatorial district. He said "I personally resent

Dallas in Grip Of Panic; Killer Eludes Police

Citizens Organize for Defense of Families; 'Vigilantes' Formed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Hysteria gripped much of Dallas today as the rapist-killer of Mrs. H. C. Parker, 29, pretty dime store clerk eluded hundreds engaged in the manhunt.

There were numerous reports of the nude Negro prowler, or prowlers, seen in Dallas for months by terrified women, but police attributed at least part of them to increasing panic.

City in Frenzy

Mrs. Parker's rape-murder Wednesday night threw the city into a frenzy and sent citizens buying guns, dogs, ammunition and safety devices for their doors. There was talk of vigilante action and at least two neighborhood "vigilante patrols" were formed.

Women slept with guns by their beds and the lights on. Some husbands stayed home from work to protect their homes. Police squads were increased, vacations were cancelled and officers worked on a 12-hour day, 7-day-week basis. Civil defense radio units were pressed into service.

2 Shoot at Prowlers

At least two residents of East Dallas shot at prowlers last night but police said both apparently missed their targets. One man shot himself in the hand with a pistol he had bought recently.

Reward funds for conviction of the rapist-killer and prowler passed the $7,000 mark and the Dallas Negro Chamber of Commerce, helped by Dallas baseball players Buzz Clarkson and Willie Brown, started a reward fund.

Police Chief Earl Hansson asked women not to go out alone after dark and urged them to keep their doors bolted. He also warned citi-

Top Longshore Leaders Given Police Guards

Waterfront Quiet But Tense as Strike Enters Its Third Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Rival longshore leaders in New York had 24-hour police guards today in the potentially explosive dock strike idling East Coast ports for a third day.

Meanwhile, a presidential board of inquiry meets here today to start the legal machinery turning for an anti-strike injunction and a return to work, probably early next week.

A third development in the tense waterfront crisis was a report that John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers (Ind) had invited into its fold the AFL-ousted International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), which struck ports from Maine to Virginia in a bid for higher wages. The report could not be confirmed immediately.

The docks were quiet yesterday as an estimated 60,000 dockers were idled by the wage-contract dispute between the ILA and the New York Shipping Association (NYSA) representing 170 shipping and stevedoring firms.

Not involved in the contract fight but locked in a bitter struggle with the ILA for control of waterfront labor is the new International Longshoremen's Association, AFL (ILA-AFL). The AFL set up this group as a rival to the ILA, which the parent federation expelled for

President Bothered With Elbow Injury

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has a sore right elbow. "painful and annoying" but nothing to worry about, the White House reports.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told inquiring newsmen late yesterday that Eisenhower's elbow was injured when knocked against a White House door about two months ago, is being treated with heat and is progressing satisfactorily.

Hagerty denied a published report that Eisenhower has bursitis—an inflammation of a sac which "lubricates" the body's joints to reduce friction. Hagerty also denied the President has any calcium deposit in the elbow.

In fact, he said in response to questions, Eisenhower's health is excellent except for the sore arm.

Puzzle Grows Daily

No Break Reported In Boy's Kidnaping

KANSAS CITY (AP)—What is the fate of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease?

This is the sixth day since the boy, son of wealthy automobile dealer Robert C. Greenlease was kidnaped from the French Institute of Notre Dame De Sion, a private Catholic school.

Yet his disappearance and its ramifications have become even more puzzling daily with rumors and numerous tips adding to the complexity of the case.

Deny Ransom Report

A family spokesman denied published reports that $500,000 ransom had been demanded and that the parents have been in contact with the abductors.

The mother and father said again last night they were only waiting and hoping.

Chief of Police Bernard C. Brannon repeatedly has said his department's chief concern is to get Bobby back unharmed.

"I haven't been in contact with the family since they asked us Monday not to intervene," he said.

Police say only routine tips are being run down.

Obtained on Ruse

The child was taken from the school on a ruse by a woman pretending to be his aunt. A taxicab driver who had the woman as a fare said she was chunky, "a good looker" with clear skin, about 5 feet 5 inches tall and not more than 35 years old. The woman got the child out of school by telling a nun his mother was ill.

The cabbie, Willard P. Creech, 63 drove the woman and the boy to a parking lot a few blocks from the school. He last saw them standing near a light blue car in the lot.

Robert Ledterman, a business associate of the 71-year-old Greenlease, has been spokesman for the family.

Ledterman, mentioning the numerous calls and letters the family had received, said, "all of these messages seem to mean well but they won't get the child back."

Some Rap U.S. Stand

Rift on Allied Side Slows Progress of West in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Growing diferences between the United States and its allies in Korea today threatened their united front on major questions in the U. N. Assembly. Some delegates said the issues must be ironed out before further U. N. consideration of world problems.

None of the differences involve basic aims—all the allies want an honorable peace. The issues have arisen because the nations have not decided to the satisfaction of all how they should go about reaching that goal.

Would Have U. S. Yield

Some of the allies wish the United States would not be so stiff and unyielding on all issues. Others are interested in the recurring demands for a personal meeting of the chiefs of state of the big powers.

The consensus is that the opening round of debate in the Assembly showed weaknesses and divisions on the Western side and that unusual efforts must be undertaken to repair these breaks.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate, went to Washington at the end of the week for his first meeting with President Eisenhower's Cabinet since the Assembly convened Sept. 15.

Lloyd Flies to London

His opposite number on the British delegation, Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd, flew to London to tell Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden what he has seen and heard here. Lloyd is expected back later this month.

In London, the Foreign Office announced Lloyd's scheduled return shortly after Prime Minister Churchill's Cabinet agreed on new moves to break the East-West deadlock over the Korean truce talks. No official details of the new plan were disclosed, however.

Radiator Fan Blade Flies Off, Sails Into Store

A freak accident in downtown Marion yesterday afternoon caused an estimated $190 damage to the third floor of Frank Bros. Store.

The accident occurred when a six-inch long piece of fan blade broke off the radiator cooling fan on a Marion Star newspaper delivery truck, shot through the hood of the truck, soared up across the street through a large third floor plate glass window on the store building, through the lamp shades of three floor lamps near the window and finally lodged in a partition.

Driver of the truck, Monford M. Benjamin, 30, of 184 Lake St., had stopped for the street light at W. Center and Prospect Sts. and had just started driving west on W. Center St. when the fan blade went flying through the hood.

Two saleswomen on the floor where the blade hit, Mrs. E. L. Strope of 393 Chestnut St. and Mrs. Helen Coldwell of 285 Belmont St., told investigating policemen they were given a bit of a fright when they heard it crash through the window and lodge in the wall near them.

Only a small section of large plate glass window in the approximate shape of the fan blade was broken out.

Thousands Attend Reuter's Funeral

BERLIN (AP) — Sorrowing West Berliners bade farewell today to Ernst Reuter in a vast surge of public grief for their dead mayor.

Hundreds of thousands dropped all else to form a dramatic backdrop for the funeral of the man who fought communism to a standstill in this crossroads city and instilled in his people the firm belief that the Red tide would be rolled back from German soil some day.

One hundred and twenty thousand stood in stony silence, broken only by an occasional burst of sobbing, as final services were conducted in the open air before City Hall.

More hundreds of thousands lined a six-mile route to the cemetery in the American sector, near the tiny villa where Reuter worked late into the night and where his overtaxed heart gave way last Tuesday.

News of the Churches

Congregations Will Join In Communion Services

With Christian congregations in neighboring communities, throughout the nation, and abroad in the continents and islands of the sea, Marion churches will join Sunday in observance of Worldwide Communion at morning worship services.

This will be the culmination of Christian Education Week for many churches, with the communion dedicated to children around the world. Special services of worship have been scheduled by some congregations, and there will be special offerings received for aid of needy peoples at home and overseas. Pastors have prepared sermons in keeping with the idea of worldwide worship participation and the meaning of communion.

IN LINE WITH denominational emphasis, some churches will take special offerings to be used for the needy in this country, for overseas relief, and for other charitable purposes and like "service to fellowmen."

For more than a century, it has been customary in the Methodist Church to take an offering for the poor on communion Sunday. In more recent years, the church, under direction of its General Conference, policy making body, divides funds received on World Communion Sunday into one-half for work of the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, one-fourth for the work of the Methodist Commission on Chaplains, and one-fourth toward the services of the Methodist Committee on Camp Activities, for benefit of men in the armed forces.

Coinciding with the special communion event, American Baptist Churches receive a World Fellowship offering which will supplement the church quotas for foreign missions and aid to aged ministers and missionaries.

OTHER CHURCHES have announced extra offerings to be taken, with contributions of one congregation going to the Christian Rural Overseas Program, interdenominational relief work.

First Presbyterian Church will mark the Lord's Supper in the morning.

Anthem for the communion service at Epworth Methodist Church at worship hour will be "Let Us Break Bread Together," arranged by Ryder, in preparation for the pastor's message.

Choir music at First Evangelical and Reformed Church will be a special part of the morning worship and communion service. Annual Rally Day will be observed in all departments of the Church School, preceding. A special program for children and adults will be presented in the Church School auditorium under direction of Mrs. Floyd Gehres, Mrs. Elbert Kirkpatrick, and Mrs. Robert Beckel. Children's Department members will give songs, Miss Dora Jacobs and Carmi Church will sing, and there will be presentation of an award to the class with the best average attendance during the year.

AT WORSHIP HOUR, the Senior Choir will sing "The Lord Is My Shepherd," Scholin, directed by Mrs. Clara Belle Sinning, and a combined choir including 40 children directed by Mrs. J. Paul Goebel, will sing "Blessed Are They," Staley. A special offering will be received for Church World Service.

To share in the denomination's World Fellowship Offering together with joining with Christians of all denominations and all races in communion service, Trinity Baptist Church has set for itself a goal of $350 for the morning collection.

Special music will be a part of the Calvary EUB Church communion service. At Sunday School hour, Rally Day will be marked.

New members will be baptized and received into the church at the communion service of Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church. An anthem by the Junior Choir will be "God So Loved the World," Shawker, and the Senior Choir number will be "Since Jesus Died For Me," VonBerge, directed by Miss Ferol Burley and accompanied by Mrs. Rolin Montgomery.

TWO-FOLD observance at First EUB Church in the morning will be Rally Day at Sunday School and communion during worship hour following.

Offering for CROP will be taken at the communion hour at Oakland EUB Church, and prayer covenant cards will be received by worshipers to be used in remembering "Christ's sacrifice for them."

There will be Rally Day and communion at Greenwood EUB Church morning services. The Sunday School lesson will be given by Miss Florence Bromley of Meadville, Pa., who is now assisting with work at the Salvation Army here. The rally exercises will include a special program by the Junior Department.

WORLD COMMUNION service will open "Loyalty Month" for the Prospect Street Methodist Church. The theme will be "Remembering Christ and Others." Special music by the choir will be "Come Ye Souls," and the pastor's message will emphasize significance of the rite of remembrance. In remembrance of Christ's life and sacrifice, the church will contribute a special offering for the world's suffering and needy.

Rally Day for the Wesley Methodist Sunday School and communion service at worship hour following will be marked by the congregation in the morning, and special Rally Day collection and annual offering for the Methodist Fellowship of Service and Suffering will be received.

Why Communion

A Sermonette

By REV. H. V. FALOR
Pastor of Oakland EUB Church

"For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do shew the Lord's death, till He come."—1 Corinthians, 11:26.

Since Sunday, October 4, is Worldwide Communion Sunday, it will witness millions of Christians around the world, from numerous nations, races, and classes, gathering about the Table of the Lord. This central act of Christian worship commanded by Christ, and so universally practiced, is a great testimony to the true oneness of Christ's Church. To worthily partake of this Sacrament honors Christ, and mightily enriches our lives with the grace of God if we are alert to its significance. It is our prayer that the reading of this message will inspire some who otherwise might have neglected to go to God's House this Lord's Day and gratefully participate in this sacred rite. Let us think together of some of its many significant meanings.

This Sacrament is a remembrance of Christ which has vital historical meaning. It is a memorial to the fact that He suffered and died for us, more imperishable than any marble monument or bronze statue. When we are inclined to forget what this "Man of sorrows" actually endured for us, these symbols of His broken body and shed blood assure us afresh that He did once live among men and truly died in our behalf. That is a central fact of His earthly history a great foundation stone of our Christian faith.

PARTICIPATION in Holy Communion leads us to the heart of God's own and only way of salvation, and therefore has significant redemptive meaning. It dramatically portrays God's provision for our personal deliverance from sins, past, present and future. The bread tells us that Christ had to be broken for us in order to redeem us. The cup proclaims that we are redeemed, if at all, not with corruptible things as silver and gold, "but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot," and that without the shedding of His blood there is no remission. In Him centers the power which can enable persons spiritually dead because of sin, to actually live by His redeeming grace.

The Communion has devotional significance. This phase of its meaning has particular reference to what we offer to God as we come to His Table. Personal heart-searching is important. We ought to make sure that we are Christ-centered and not self-centered; sincere and not superficial; forgiving and not full of resentments; keeping our vows to God and not breaking them; not living recklessly, but righteously by His grace. "Let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup." "For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh judgement to himself."

OUR ATTITUDE must be one of deep contrition and confession. Since the Sacrament particularly proclaims Christ's utmost sacrifice for us, our proper devotion should include the declaration of our practical and true-hearted dedication to Him. "I gave Myself for thee, What hast thou given for Me?" Is a pertinent question to which we must give definite answer. Then, too, at such a high moment our devotion should be filled with thanksgiving. On the eve of the institution of this Sacrament, our Master, in full realization of the content of suffering which it held for Him "took bread—and gave thanks," before breaking and distributing it. The central idea of the Eucharist in the early church was the thanksgiving element. Sincere confession and consecration to Christ will prepare the way for true thanksgiving regarding such sacred and high privileges as His Passion affords.

THE COMMUNION should serve as a means of edifying our lives. This has reference to what God gives to us through it. This principal means of grace is a high form of communion between God and men through Christ. Christ sits at the head of every Communion Table, and if we come aright, His melting presence assures us that He is pleased with our worship, and we go away blessed and edified in heart; our faith is strengthened; our love is enriched and deepened; our purpose to do His whole will is made more firm; and we have blessed sweet fellowship one with another, and together with Him.

Witness-bearing is also an outcome of this Sacrament when we worthily participate. "As often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do shew the Lord's death till He come." To consistently partake of the sacred emblems preaches a silent message of hope and life to our own hearts and to the hearts of other believers; and it rebukes the ungodly for their indifference and challenges them to a life of surrender to such a worthy Christ.

FINALLY, THERE is a prophetic meaning connected with the Communion Service. "Ye do shew the Lord's death till He come." Behold the hand of hope which points forward to the Lord's return, as well as the hand of faith which points back to His cross. The Divine promise made at Christ's ascension, "this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into Heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen Him go into Heaven," still holds. We know not when He shall come, but we can be sure that God wants us to live in the assurance of that hope. Only thus will we be best fitted for all our Christian privileges and responsibilities.

Diplomacy: Still an Art

The obvious rejoinder to a suggestion being made in places close to the White House that the Soviet Union should be sounded out on a non-aggression pact is a snort of derision. The Soviet Union does not honor its pacts.

But when the snort has been snorted, the fact remains that diplomacy still is an art and its artistry is not always obvious to minds which subsist on the obvious.

If the U.S. State Department were to see merit in a non-aggression pact with the government of the Soviet Union, it would be just as aware as its critics of the Kremlin's record of bad faith.

But the Kremlin did not invent bad faith in these matters. Betrayals of governments which took too much stock in good faith comprise much of the record of diplomacy.

The art of diplomacy is to deal with realities and probabilities in such a way as to discount in advance what may happen. When as seasoned a mind in diplomatic affairs as Sir Winston Churchill's can see merit in reopening negotiations with the Kremlin, it is not because a hard-bitten realist has gone soft in the head but because he has detected a chance to use diplomacy in behalf of his British diplomacy's changeless aim, which is to preserve Britain.

United States diplomacy also should have a changeless aim—to preserve the United States. There is no reason to think it will not have that aim under the Eisenhower administration.

80 Days Won't Be Enough

For once, the use of the injunction process in the Labor-Management Act is not going to be sneered at by union labor bosses as evidence that the president of the United States is against them. He is trying to keep some of them healthy and alive this time.

Invoking the injunction process in the Atlantic port strike is in their behalf. It is an attempt to keep rival factions of union bosses from becoming embroiled in a waterfront war which would precipitate a major emergency in the United States. This wouldn't be a strike but a waterfront riot.

The International Longshoremen's Association whose AFL charter was revoked for its long record of corruption and racketeering has been unable to renew its contracts with ship owners. The rival union set up to take over the contracts under AFL supervision has been unable to get into action.

Goon squads have been organized on the waterfronts to fight it out in terms of broken heads, arms, legs and dockside terror. A situation which previously had been disclosed by official investigations to be so bad it couldn't be worse is now so hopelessly entangled it must get worse before it can get better.

There can be no reorganization of labor-management relations on the docks until new contracts are drawn up with the approval of the National Labor Relations Board. There can be no new contracts and no approval until the fate of the International Longshoremen's Association has been determined. That will take time.

The 80-day injunction period will not be long enough, but it will be better than the state of open violence which would have come into existence immediately had the White House not made the only decision left to be made.

There have been times when union leaders have taken the attitude they had a right to cripple the United States at will. In this instance, they have taken the attitude they have a right to cripple one another along with the country.

They may be grateful eventually for a law which will keep some of them out of the hospital and even out of the cemetery.

Highest Post in Government

After congratulations have been delivered to California Gov. Warren for his appointment as chief justice of the United States, many citizens spared a few minutes to think about this key office.

It should be reviewed from time to time in order to understand how government works in a republic.

The chief justice is the second-highest official of the federal government—more important than the vice president. He directs the momentous deliberations by which the Supreme Court disposes of doubts and tensions arising in a government of law. Unless this is done in an orderly manner, the republic falters.

It is desirable that the holder of the office be a competent jurist. But his highest qualification is a sound judicial administrator. It is his job to define the constitutional issues which comes before the Supreme Court and to keep the judicial branch of the federal government from bogging down in deadlocks.

The late Sen. Taft of Ohio would have been offered the appointment given to Gov. Warren, had he been alive. This is an indication of the importance of the office.

There is no more vital post in government. To be chief justice of the United States is, in some respects, even higher office than the presidency, which is the highest prize in politics. The chief justiceship is the highest post in government, itself.

Formula Unchanged

By David Lawrence

Threat Main Ingredient of Any Foreign Policy

Adlai Stevenson made what looks like a curious suggestion to President Eisenhower. The former presidential candidate says he would like to see the United States sign a non-aggression pact with Russia.

Does this mean that Stevenson believes it necessary for the United States to make a pledge that hereafter it will not commit acts of aggression against Soviet Russia?

Has the United States ever been guilty of aggression heretofore?

In the eyes of Stalin, Vishinsky, Mao and the rest of the Communists, the United States crossed the 38th Parallel in Korea with other members of the United Nations and committed acts of aggression against the so-called people's government in North Korea.

Stevenson says the objective of the proposed non-aggression pact would be "to deprive Soviet Russia of the peace propaganda it now has and put them on the spot as to their intentions."

If the United States agrees "not to commit acts of aggression any more"—as the Soviet propaganda will phrase it — the step will be tantamount to pleading guilty, of course, to an absurd accusation.

The former Illinois governor isn't quite sure whether his suggested pact of non-aggression would include just Great Britain, France, the United States and Soviet Russia, or whether it would include all the countries behind the Iron Curtain as well as such hypothetical aggressors as now are known as members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The President is reported to have shown an interest in what Stevenson proposed and also to have listened intently to the story of what the former presidential nominee found on his trip around the world.

It is natural for Eisenhower to be polite about such things and to do so in the interest of a bipartisan front in handling foreign policy.

At the same time the nation is getting a rather confused impression as to what the Eisenhower administration really has in mind in the matter of world policy, especially as it relates to Soviet Russia.

There is a feeling that the President has been unable to formulate a definite policy about what to do as a consequence of the development of the hydrogen bomb by Soviet Russia.

From Eisenhower's press conference on Wednesday came the following official information:

1—The knowledge that the Russians have the bomb is, of course, an acute problem for the Defense Department.

2—This is causing more earnest study than anything which has happened lately.

3—When the President can get sorted out in his own mind and with his advisors exactly how the government here should approach this whole subject and its interrelationship with the international situation, he expects to go before the American people and tell them about it.

He will be very frank in telling them the facts on which his studies have been based and the conclusions which he and the administration have reached.

The foregoing doesn't sound as if the American government has any plan or program to deal with the Communist menace except to deal with each new situation as it arises.

The President feels he should not say anything in his forthcoming speeches that might produce adverse reactions. His reasons as he gave them to the press are these:

1—We have friends abroad and must be very careful that they understand always that we have one intention — namely, peace. We don't want war, and anyone with his war experience would put war at the very last of any possible solutions to the world's difficulties.

2—The President thinks the only possible tragedy greater than winning a war would be losing it. War should be ruled out of the calculations of all of us and we should proceed from there.

3—Now America wants all her allies to understand thoroughly that, because we have to take rudimentary precautions for our own security, we will not quail from any sacrifice necessary to provide that security. If you don't look out, these intentions are misunderstood, and badly misunderstood.

4—Some of our friends say we are pugnacious and impulsive or we have lost faith in the conference table. Those things are far from the truth.

5—Another thing is that you don't want to frighten anyone to death in the world. Frightened people cannot make good decisions. So you have to understand the strength of the free world and the strength of America at the very same time that you are weighing also our dangers and our risks.

This is but another way of saying that talk about the destructiveness of the H-bomb could frighten European peoples and drive them into appeasement policies.

Likewise, if too much emphasis is placed on what might happen to our side, it may be overlooked that the free world can deliver retaliatory blows as well.

The formula is still one of threat and counterthreat.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: I hope I can stay awake tonight long enough to finish this. We have just come home from one of our picnics. Your aunt did not stand on ceremony. She's in bed, asleep.

I like fall picnics best, winter picnics second best, spring picnics third best and summer picnics least. In the fall, all the insects have been cut down to size, the air is crisp and the sentimentality is best.

I feel sorry for people with inadequate backgrounds of sentimentality. Wouldn't it be awful not to have wiener roasts, toasted marshmallows and wild geese flying in formation to remember when there's frost on the "punkin"?

All it takes to stir up my nostalgia until my throat aches is one whiff of wood smoke on a frosty night in October. Or let a screech owl warble his first plaintive note when there's a harvest moon and I begin to twist my old bandana and snuffle.

That's sort of what we were doing on our fall picnic tonight, your aunt and I. We were sniffling. We first met under a harvest moon. I stole my first kiss without bringing down any censure on my head under a canopy of October stars. We held hands for the first time on an autumn hayride.

We were married in the fall. We moved into the first house we ever owned in the fall. Most of the good things that have happened to us seem to have gravitated around the autumnal equinox. We have shared many times a conviction that of all the times of the year when life seems good enough to make you want to live forever the latter part of September and the first part of October produce the finest moments.

Our picnic this evening was one of them. The fire, the surroundings, the memories and the food were just right. Like the fool I've always been when I was in tune with nature, I had the feeling we were the embodiment of all the people since the Year I who've ever taken their ease around a campfire in the twilight of their hard days of endeavor.

Neither of us had to say a word. It was all there for the permanent record, inscribed in the leaves, in the eroding rocks and in the stream running everlastingly to the sea. It is almost as good as that on a winter picnic when the snow and the stark bareness of the branches makes the message more graphic but less subtle. Me, I like a little subtlety when I am being encouraged to comprehend the eternal verities. That's why I prefer fall.

I'm wasting my time when I talk to you about such things because you think picnics are potato salad and poison ivy. But at least you are bright enough to understand there has to be some better reason for my indulgence in the pastime than eating food away from home. If that was all that mattered, I could get the same general effect by roughing it at the Sanitary Restaurant downtown on Main Street.

We have called it a summer here and put in the storm windows. In fact, I have turned off the water in the outside taps, lest I forget it a little later.

When I turn off the water taps, can spring be far behind?

Regards to all.

Reds Ruled Unfit To Teach

By Raymond Moley

The Board of Regents of the State of New York has now ruled that the Communist party is subversive under New York law and that teachers who are members of that party are subject to dismissal. By implication, at least, it also says that such teachers should be dismissed.

It has taken the regents a long time to come to this decision. Four years ago, the New York Legislature passed what is called the Feinberg law, which declared that members of subversive organizations should be barred from employment in the public schools of the state.

It was left to the regents to determine the identity of subversive organizations.

The four-years' pause before this final decision was in part because of the fact that the constitutionality of the law was under consideration by the courts and in part because the Regents is an exceedingly deliberate body.

The Communist party will, of course, move into the courts against this decision, invoking all the precious defenses of liberty which it is sworn to destroy at some later date.

In New York City it hates to see destroyed the fine foothold in the schools that it has been able to gain and hold over the years.

The evidence is that at least ten per cent of the teachers of the city, by membership in a Communist-dominated teachers' union, have been dedicating their names and money to the destruction of the government they are hired to sustain.

The regents established ample protection for the innocent under this ruling — too much in my opinion.

A local board of education must present evidence of party membership and the accused will have a hearing. Then, if the local board rules against the teacher, the accused may appeal to the courts or to the state education commissioner.

Out of tenderness for those who joined the Communist party "without a realization of its true character," there is afforded a period of ten days grace to quit the party "in good faith."

It would seem to me that a teacher so dumb as to join the New York Communist outfit "innocently" should be dismissed anyhow for gross ignorance and incompetence.

This decision, however mild, should be a reminder to well-known private institutions of higher learning which have stubbornly held to the position that Communists should be allowed to teach. They cling to the silly position that if a teacher is not teaching Communism in the classroom, but astronomy, perhaps, or anthropology, he is harmless.

But all the evidence shows that Communist teachers do their evil work outside the classroom, in homes or clubs. In any event, they attain standing for their outside work because of their membership in a faculty.

Thus, they use the good name of the college or university to further ends inimical to all that such institutions stand for. Or, shall we say, the good name that such institutions once had. For unless some of them awake to their responsibilities, their name will cease to be good.

Defeat Through Panic

By Michael Amrine

In these days of bombs, super panic might lose us the next war, a psychological survey published by the government warned today.

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare released a report on a mental-health subcommittee on civil defense, which said, "Planning for the psychological aspects of citizens' reactions in emergencies is of equal importance with planning for their physical welfare."

The report, titled "Mental Health Implications in Civilian Emergencies," said that the only preventive of panic is for individuals to make "individual decisions as to their roles in a disaster . . . through becoming emotionally and psychologically involved in studying the facts."

Numerous authorities have reported that U.S. citizens show pronounced indifference or "apathy" to civil defense problems. Civil defense deals with the hazards of war, the report concludes, and the goals of civil defense "have, in the eyes of the citizenry, little or no relation to the hazards of today.

They do not maintain interest in projected situation of a 'tomorrow' that never comes. This state of affairs is rightly of deep concern to those in positions of responsibility."

The report envisions that civil defense may need "to become as much an integral part of our overall national life as are the programs of the Department of Agriculture or the Children's Bureau."

It says "acceptance of such new concepts does not come quickly. If such long range goals are valid, then a program of civil defense must include objectives that take attitudes of people toward such a program . . . it is now clear in the light of the developing programs that it is impossible to prepare people for an emergency . . . if the nature of man himself is overlooked."

The report says there has been a "partial neglect of educating people to deal realistically with their feelings during long periods of waiting for something to happen."

Panic prevention comes down to action," according to the report, and besides the educational program, people must have "food and sleep."

It also quotes three tips from the air force.

1—Explain to every citizen that even though A-bombs do fall in a given area his chances of survival are good. Instead of saying that two atomic bombs might cause "80,000 casualties" in a metropolitan area like Los Angeles, say rather that casualties would be "not more than two out of every 100 persons in Los Angeles County."

2—Emphasize the idea of mutual aid. "If residents of a stricken city know that residents of all other cities are well prepared and anxious to help, all will feel more secure."

3—Make sure each person knows he has a job to do.

The latter thought is repeated over and over again in the writings on experts on panic, and this job of civil defense must be to educate everyone to know something of what should be done if an atomic bomb falls in his neighborhood.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

The first lodge of Master Masons in Marion County was organized under a dispensation issued by Grand Master William James Reese of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, dated at Lancaster, July 18, 1840. Bad roads prevented the Grand Lodge representative from reaching the Grand Lodge session at Lancaster until the meeting was over and the dispensation for Marion Lodge No. 70, was continued for another year. The first officers elected were John Bartram, worthy master, Richard Wilson, senior warden, B. Warner, junior warden, George Gray, treasurer; Joseph W. Larrabee, secretary, J. J. Garwood, senior deacon, Henry Bretz, junior deacon; and John Wildbahn, tyler and steward.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

That GI Prisoner Statement

Dear Babe: Well I suppose you have read the statement, allegedly signed by GI prisoners of war brushing off flag and country. If you have I am sure you know no American soldier ever talked, wrote or thought like that. The words are not even close to the vocabulary of a GI and I would bust out laughing if it wasn't all so serious.

Get a load of this paragraph from the statement circulated by a correspondent for Commie organs:

"It is not for General Mark Clark to remind us of our American traditions. We have caught a glimpse of a society where there is no contradiction between what is preached and what is practiced, a society of peace and freedom. Under the American way we are given high sounding statements about freedom, but in action they are trampled under foot."

Can you imagine anybody outside of Russia or Red China thinking stuff like that would come out of the mouth of any GI? Even if he had gone over to the Commies he wouldn't talk that way. It just ain't GI language, babe.

And anybody who has read the papers or listened to the radio recognizes at once that almost every sentence in the statement is straight out of the regulation Moscow-Peiping book.

I can pick the same sentences out of almost every speech Vishinsky and Malik have made in the last five years. The words and music are strictly from Panmunjom, Moscow and Peiping.

"Our greatest concern is to fight for peace and freedom for the people of the world. The voices of those who speak for peace and freedom in America are being silenced. The real traitors are those who are trying to push the American people into war."

Aggressive American war policies desire for peace and friendship among all peoples.

You get those phrases in every Commie propaganda barrage. And take a deep breath and get this one: "Nobody in the POW camps even uttered one word to us of propaganda for war or hatred. On the contrary, we were encouraged to learn more than ever to love our own American people and do our best to make certain they are spared future wars." (How funny can the Commies get?)

There ain't a paragraph that rings true. It ain't Yankee Doodle Dandy gab. If you believe any Yank wrote blah like that you can believe the Drummer Boy of Shiloh wrote "The Message to Garcia," that PFC Kilroy wrote Napoleon's love letters to Josephine and that Sgt. York did the script for Hitler's "Mein Kampf."

Deep down inside, those GI's would swap anything the Commies can offer for a hot dog, a day behind third base and a Marilyn Monroe movie.

Take it easy,

Oscar.

CinemaScope, and some other near-3-D films, are pretty wonderful in many respects, and we are all for progress and novelty, but the enormity of figures on the screen is hard to take. We get the impression we are looking at elephants, not people, or at two-legged behemoths with personality smiles. A face in a movie today can take up more space than was taken up by the battle scene in regular films. A character's nose can loom larger than a tiger hunt in a travelogue and we have seen female dimples big enough for Custer's Last Fight to have been fought in.

"Those Las Vegas marriages," writes K D B, "can give gambling a bad name."

The divorced wife of Enos Slaughter, famed baseball star, is suing a razor company for damages because of a TV commercial in which she was portrayed as falling in love with him because he had such smooth cheeks. She says it exposed her to ridicule. Let's have this out in court to establish for all time whether 5 o'clock shadow can ever be a victor over moonlight and roses.

We know a fellow who reported he had seen Beria in New York, but found it was Mr. Schwepps, the gin and tonic fellow.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

In the period when a distinction was made between good and bad dictators, a world-wide propaganda was accelerated by Russia and the Communist agencies throughout the world against Spain. Of all countries, Spain was categorized as the worst and Franco was made the symbol of all that is wrong in government.

SOKOLSKY

The propaganda was so effective that Spain became the pariah among nations and Franco an outcast.

This attitude did not weaken Franco among his own people. He managed to survive the isolation. And Spain managed to exist.

WITH OUT experience with Stalin, Malenkov, Tito and all the other masters of men, the light dawned that Franco surely is no worse than these others and that Spain is needed by the United States as an ally.

For 17 months the United States conducted negotiations with Spain for air and naval bases and an agreement was finally consummated by which the United States gets the bases and Spain gets 226 million dollars which had already been granted and not yet delivered.

This transaction has been soundly arranged, perhaps because no emotional factor of friendship were involved. There was a quid pro quo and a meeting of the minds, as the lawyers say.

It is the application of intelligent self interest on both sides and is expected to last for 10 years.

THE IBERIAN peninsula is one of the principal gateways to the continent of Europe. From the standpoint of logistics in the present situation, which has as its target Soviet Russia, it is a more secure gateway than any in Northwestern Europe because it might survive a speedy Russian thrust.

Should either great Britain or France become neutralist, our peril will not be so great once our bases in Spain and North Africa are fully developed.

The agitation of Clement Attlee and Aneurin Bevan to make Great Britain neutralist has been launched with full vigor as part of an election campaign for the British Labor party to unseat Sir Winston Churchill, whose situation is becoming difficult because of his waning health and the general anti-Americanism which is developing in his country.

THIS ANTI - AMERICANISM needs to be correctly appraised in this country. The British people realize that in a war between the United States and Soviet Russia, their islands would be like sitting ducks.

They have been bombed in two wars and they know what it means in deaths, in broken homes and in the destruction of property.

There is little use repeating the American arguments, that we got into this mess because we hoped to save Britain, first from the Kaiser and then from Hitler; that we have expended vastly of our wealth and sons; that we assisted Great Britain magnificently after each war.

The British people counter by saying that they stood for 12 months alone, taking the most terrifying bombing, and that they want no more of it, if they can help it. Simply stated — they do not want another war and most of them believe that it is American stiff-neckedness which is making a compromise impossible.

In addition the British believe that they can free themselves from economic dependence upon the United States if East-West trade is permitted to flourish unhampered by American restrictions.

IT IS POSSIBLE to say that the British do not like the Russians or the Chinese Communists any more than we do, but they take the position that nations do not live by general moral principles but by the facts of life, as unpleasant as they may be. They are prepared to cut their losses.

This attitude is so general in Great Britain that it becomes difficult for a politician there to hold his own against it. Therefore, the United States must assume that allies are needed elsewhere.

Greece and Turkey stand firm; Iran is likely to be rehabilitated as an American ally; the Arab states will probably move into our orbit; Spain is with us.

Thus, a stepping stone defense is being organized in Southern Europe, in the Mediterranean and in the Middle East, supported by bases in North Africa. This bastion could be made effective with the unconventional weapons at our disposal.

Bluntly stated, our defense in the Atlantic and the Pacific will be most effective if kept distant from continental United States. And if our defenses are strong, there may be no war.

Dickerson-Seif Wedding Read at Galion Church

GALION — Shades of autumn were reflected in an impressive wedding in Galion Friday night, when Miss Beverly Ann Dickerson became the bride of Raymond M. Seif. The altar of First Lutheran church was simply decorated for the double ring service conducted by the Rev. Robert S. Garnes Jr. at 7:30 o'clock.

The couple left for Columbus to make their home while the bridegroom continues his studies at Ohio State university.

The former Miss Dickerson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark R. Dickerson, Galion. She was graduated from Galion High school in 1949, and recently resigned her position as teller at the Buckeye State Bank. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Seif are the parents of the bridegroom. He was graduated from Galion High school in 1950, and begins his last quarter as a sophomore at Ohio State University. He is majoring in business, and belongs to Sigma Chi fraternity.

During the past summer he topped the pitchers of the Cleveland Indians' baseball farm teams, pitching for the Fargo-Moorehead Twins, Cleveland Indian farm team of the Northern League. He has a contract with the Indians for next season.

Hungarian Stations Eye Beginning of Television

BUDAPEST (UP) — The first Hungarian television transmitter will begin its experimental transmissions in 1954, according to Antal Katona, first deputy of the transport and postal services ministry.

"We are not importing finished machinery or any other equipment from the Soviet Union," he said, "but we are receiving detailed blueprints of the most advanced Russian developments in television.

Katona said that in its first year, Hungarian TV will transmit feature and documentary films. After that it will go over to the beaming of studio programs and on-the-spot reports.

About 372,988 people migrated out of Kentucky between 1940 and 1950 according to an estimate by a University of Kentucky sociologist.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Neither the plush roof terrace of St Louis' swank Hotel Chase, nor the parade of flaming desserts through a darkened night club which had been turned into a banquet hall for a testimonial dinner to teamsters president Dave Beck by some of his followers, seemed to impress either Beck or the other honored guest, AFL chief George Meany.

RIESEL

In their still unreported, off-the-cuff talks both men revealed that it would take more than candle-lit ice cream to make labor soft.

-:-

GEORGE MEANY, who emerged from the recent AFL convention in St. Louis as a dynamic leader capable at once of icy anger and poetic phrases, turned to the many judges and city officials on the dais with him and reminded them that he had come out of the plumbers union.

"There was a time when we could get into a place like this only if the hotel sprung a leak," he said.

Then he spoke of things to come—but the portentous news was in his unspoken plans.

Meany's words and plans are those of a man who revels in his working class origin and who is rapidly rolling into one husky frame the blunt power and daring of John Lewis, the day-to-day devotion of the late Bill Green and the flash of Walter Reuther.

History and headlines will prove that soon enough

How soon? Perhaps in a year

MEANY NOW will attempt to bring about the merger of the AFL and CIO into one organization of 14 million members before the next AFL convention in Los Angeles a year hence.

Thus, the most powerful labor federation in the world, with hundred of millions of dollars available to it, will face the Republicans right at the height of the crucial 1954 congressional campaign, if Meany is successful.

To effect this, Meany, working with Walter Reuther, CIO president, has developed this over-all strategy:

Meany's first task is to wipe out "civil wars inside and outside the AFL," as he put it. To do this he must keep his unions from battling each other for jurisdiction and then fighting the CIO for certain plants.

He pointed out that despite the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars by unions competing with each other for members, the AFL took in a net gain of only 4,000 — and these had already been unionized by the CIO.

WHAT'S MORE, some of this raiding and counter raiding is led by little regional labor barons (some mob controlled) who are so tough they take no orders from their own national chiefs.

Thus there is a crazy-quilt of jurisdiction. Miners bargain for shirtwaist makers; longshoremen deal for radio station employes and candy-makers; steel workers represent bricklayers; machinists bargain for electricians; chemical unions and even textile workers have taken in jewelry workers. There are thousands of such instances.

Now Meany has appointed a five - man committee to sit in judgment of all this. They are the top names in the AFL.

They will study these civil wars. Then, in six or eight months, they will lay down definitive lines across which no union can go.

THEY WILL BACK up their decisions with their prestige so that a regional chief who is told to give up pencil makers or carnival workers will go back to his local people and say, "What you want me to do, fight the whole AFL?"

In this way, too, a mob-controlled local will not be able to dissect a city map and say, "Everything here from cooks to watch salesmen is mine." This could cripple the rackets.

At the same time, similar AFL and CIO committees will be working out jurisdictional lines between their two national labor coalitions.

In November, this will be the big talk at the CIO convention. Then the AFL - CIO joint unity committees again will meet.

-:-

IT IS MEANY'S hope that some time in 1954 these committees will vote for a merger of the AFL and CIO without bothering to settle any jurisdictional disputes between the unions of both federations — or deciding, for example, whether Paul Hall of the AFL seafarers or Big Joe Curran of the CIO sailors, who has now recovered nicely from his heart attack, will be president of a joint maritime union.

All that will be decided in each union after the merger on top.

The human equation being what it is, there will be little spontaneous Alphonse and Gaston yeilding of presidencies to former rivals.

Where there is a dispute, Meany and Reuther hope to submit it to a joint board, headed by an impartial chairman such as George Taylor, John Steelman, John Dunlop or David Cole

That's how Meany sees the world's greatest federation of labor being created.

Code of International Law Suggested by Pope

ROME (AP)—Pope Pius XII urged the nations of the world today to adopt a code of international law that would punish crimes having international consequences. Chief among these, he said, would be an unjust war

The Pope spoke to delegates from more than a score of countries, gathered in Rome for the Sixth International Congress of Criminal Law.

The pontiff placed at the top crimes with international consequences which he said would come under international law "the criminal of a modern war . . . that provokes ruin, suffering and unimaginable horror."

The pontiff said no person should be able to bring this about with impunity.

Erskine Pitches Brooklyn Back Into Picture, Strikes Out 14

By GALYE TALBOT

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers were back in the World Series today on the strength of one of the greatest pitching performances in the history of the classic and a home run right out of the story book.

When Carl Erskine struck out 14 Yankees in achieving his brilliant 3-2 victory yesterday he broke a record which had stood for 24 years and set a new standard which might well exist much longer than that. The four-time world champions hit only one really hard ball off the youthful Brooklyn ace, even though they chipped him for six singles.

Roy Campanella, whose right hand still throbbed painfully from the blow it received in the opening game from an Allie Reynolds fast ball, wrapped the contest up neatly when he leaned into Vic Raschi's first pitch in the eighth inning and propelled it far up into the left field seats. The handsome young curver and the burly backstop were co-heroes in this baseball hotbed today.

It was a great comeback for both of them. Erskine was the outstanding goat of the opening game at the Stadium when lack of control cost him four runs in the first inning. He made up for that, and more, and the Yanks will take no pleasure at the thought of seeing him again.

For two games, ever since Reynolds pinked him his first time up in the opener, Campy was virtually a dead weight with the stick up to the moment of his triumph. He didn't think he would even attempt to play yesterday, and there was some surprise that he did. If he had not, they might have been out there yet.

While they were not yet out of the woods, the National League champions had at least avoided the ignominy of a four-straight blanking and had to be given some chance of tying the play-off at two victories apiece as they sent another young righthander, Billy Loes, out to duel Whitey Ford today. Chuck Dressen's boys have been death on lefthanders in their own park all season.

Still, Loes lacks considerable of being an Erskine, as who doesn't, and the Yankees remained firm favorites to win the Series eventually. Reynolds was in the Yankee bullpen all through the third game, incidentally, and it is being taken for granted that he will be ready to do a little relief pitching when and if he is needed. His wrenched back is feeling much better.

Erskine really had it. His fast ball was a blue darter and his sweeping curve had the Yanks tied in knots. When he struck out two successive pinchhitters in the ninth to tie and better the previous record of 13 whiffs set by Howard Ehmke of the Philadelphia Athletics in the 1929 Series against the Chicago Cubs, the crowd was riding on his every pitch, pulling for him to achieve his goal.

Perhaps the most futile pair on the field were Joe Collins and Mickey Mantle of the Yanks Each of them fanned four successive times.

The hardest ball hit by the American Leaguers all afternoon was Billy Martin's long fly in the sixth inning which Carl Furillo hauled down with a leaping one-handed catch in deep right center field.

None of the three straight singles which gave the so-called Bombers their first run in the fifth inning amounted to much. First Peewee Reese, then Junior Gilliam and finally Billy Cox knocked down sharply hit bounders but couldn't find the handle in time to make a throw.

Larry Berra's single to open the sixth found the slot between the Dodger first and second basemen, and the fifth by Hank Bauer in the eighth went through the box. Only Gene Woodling's two-out single which delivered Bauer with the tying run was a real, genuine blow into the outfield.

Grim Vic Raschi didn't lack a whole lot of matching Erskine, except in the matter of strikeouts. The veteran righthander was rough all the way, and except for Jackie Robinson the Dodgers were kept well in line until Campanella's big clout

There was much grumbling among the Brooklyn supporters, the tenor of their remarks being that the Yankees were plain lucky stiffs and that it didn't seem to be much use trying to beat them. They didn't feel any better when Hodges grounded out with the score tied, 2-2, to start the eighth and Campanella came waddling out. After all, the wounded catcher hadn't knocked a ball out of the infield in almost two full games.

Then it happened, and you just should have watched Erskine pitch that last inning out of appreciation When the last batter, Collins, rolled a ball toward the mound, the collar ad kid grabbed it and didn't want to let go even long enough to toss to Hodges for the putout He looked a bit excited.

Both Harding, St. Mary Notch Third Straight Wins

Prexies Dump Tiffin 21-6 In Buckeye League Battle

By JOHN SHORT

Harding's Presidents racked up their third straight win and second in Buckeye League play last night at Tiffin with a 21-6 verdict over Columbian High School.

The Columbian squad scored the first touchdown given up by the Harding defense late in the second period when Bill Groman hurled a pass from the midfield stripe to George Kingsmore who leaped above two Harding defenders to haul it in in the end zone.

The play started at the 28-yard line but Groman was chased to the 50 before he threw the ball. Harding's running game and the Prexies batted down Groman and Dale Griffis' passes.

Early in the final period, Joe Snouffer set up Harding's insurance tally by intercepting a Groman pass at the 33. Ballinger spearheaded the TD drive. He carried the ball three times during the drive. After an offside had set the Prexies back to the 17 with a second down, Chet King scored on a crossbuck which fooled the defenders.

In the closing minutes of the game, a bad pass from center went over Fred Hazen's head and Tiffin took over at the Harding 12. Whaley dropped Groman for a four-yard loss on the first play and Snouffer stopped him after three on the second. Snouffer batted down one pass in the end zone and Doug Bibler ended the threat by knocking down a fourth-down aerial.

Harding fans and coaches especially were satisfied with last night's win. The team gave the appearance of not having taken Tiffin squad too seriously and several persons were fearing an upset.

The game was held in the last period while officials chased a group of small boys from one end of the field. Harding was driving for a score at the north end of the field and the boys were at the south end sailing paper gliders, made from the program, through the goal post.

—:—

The Harding band made its second trip of the season and combined with the Columbian organization for the National anthem at the beginning of the game. One more road trip is in store for the band group.

—:—

The last period touchdown last night marked the first time the Prexies had scored in the second half this season. The Dutch Meyer spread used by the Columbian team seemed to confuse the Harding defenders in the early stages but they soon buckled down. A blackboard and talk by Pete Howison and his aides during the half solved the problem. During the second last two periods, the home team wound up with a minus 11 on the ground and completed only three short passes. In the spread the losers kept one man back with three flankers on one side and the ends split. Harding shifted into a 6-3-2 defense in the last half to stop them cold.

—:—

The win left Harding atop the Buckeye League. In other league games last night, Fremont blasted Fostoria 40-6, and Findlay nipped Bowling Green 14-7.

First Period Touchdown

For the third straight time, the Prexies wrapped it up in the early stages. Two touchdowns were scored in the opening period with the defensive unit taking over the rest of the way.

Columbian received the opening kickoff and managed to drive to the Harding 33 where on fourth down, Fred Hazen intercepted for the Prexies Gary Ballinger picked up six and Joe Albinack added one before Don Schweinfurth hit Bob Stauffer with his first aerial. Stauffer grabbed the ball at the Tiffin 40 and plowed to the 17 to set up the TD. Ballinger and Chet King carried to the three in four plays and Albinack went into the end zone. He cut through the line and bounced off two tacklers for the score. John Obenour followed with the first of three conversions

Following the kickoff, Columbian found itself on its own 26 with the Harding forward wall going wild. Bob Prater dropped Groman for a 10-yard loss and Bob Hamor came in to dump Shaferly for a similar loss. Prater then blocked a Tiffin kick but Harding fumbled on the recovery and Tiffin recovered for a first down at the Tiffin 38. Whaley dropped Groman for six and Prater followed by nipping him for a 14-yard loss to the 18 On the next play a bad pass from center got by Phil Engle and Prater fell on the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

Tiffin Scores

With three minutes to play in the half, Columbian took Fred Hazen's punt at the 35 and began its drive. Groman sparked the drive with his passing and running In addition to his scoring pass, he hit Kingsmore with an 11-yard heave and carried the ball three times for 19 yards during the drive

During the third period, the Tiffin squad managed to bottle up

Bucks Invade California for Televised Tilt

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—California's Bears, still in the building stage, meet the powerful Ohio State Buckeyes today in the nationally televised (NBC) game of the week.

Ohio invades Memorial Stadium here fresh from a solid 36-12 victory last week over Indiana.

California won last week, too, but its 26-0 win was over the considerably weaker conference rival, Oregon State. Cal lost its season opener to Baylor 25-0.

California Coach Lynn Waldorf said he gave his team "a good chance," but added that a great deal would depend on how Cal handled its new defensive alignment—tackles inside the guards.

And much also depends on quarterback Paul Larson, who was shifted at the beginning of the season from left half after Sam Williams' injury.

Facing Cal however is a 217-pound line from tackle to tackle and a strong backfield.

Howard Cassady, a standout halfback in Ohio State's victory last week, has a shoulder injury, but was expected to play part time.

Ohio State, a formidable contender for Big Ten honors this year, operates from a split—T formation. California runs from a straight T.

This is the third meeting of the teams, and the first Ohio pilgrimage to Berkeley. The other two previous games were both in Pasadena's Rose Bowl, a 28-0 California win New Year's Day 1921, and a 17-14 win by Ohio, Jan. 2, 1950.

Starting time for the game is 5 p. m. EST.

POW Honored As Upper Drops 20-14 Decision

UPPER SANDUSKY—Bellevue's powerhouse dampened Upper Sandusky's hopes for a Northern Ohio League crown here last night for the second year in a row with a 20-14 win.

The visitors racked up two touchdowns in the opening period. Bob Hart scored on a 17-yard pass from John Lepley in the first four minutes and then came through with a score when he scooted around end for 26 yards in the same quarter Lepley sneaked for the final Bellevue score in the second quarter, Lepley, last year's all - league quarterback, booted two extra points.

Dave Kuenzli sparked the Rams' attack. He scored both touchdowns and plunged for two extra points. His first score came on a 17-yard gallop over tackle and the second on a plunge from the one.

During special halftime ceremonies, Thomas Swihart, Wyandot County's only repatriated prisoner of war was honored. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Swihart of near Upper Sandusky, he spent 10 months in a Communist prisoner of war camp in Korea. He was originally listed as missing in action but his parents were notified he was a prisoner when the Reds released their prisoner lists during the truce talks.

Swihart was escorted onto the field by a color guard from the local American Legion and VFW posts Josephy Morehart, commander of the Legion, presented him a watch, gift of local veteran and civic organizations.

Ohio U. Meets Harvard Today In Grid Action

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's Bucks hold the center of the football stage today as they meet California's Bears on the west coast in a nationally televised intersectional contest.

The big game, scheduled to start at 5 p m. EST, is the headliner of a two-contest slate with an interstate tinge which sends 30 of Ohio's college squads into action today, tonight and tomorrow

Bowling Green got the weekend's clashes with foreign foes under way last night as the Falcons lost to Temple at Philadelphia 27-0 That result left the Buckeye clubs with eight victories and 12 defeats in interstate play for the season, with the foreigners holding a 393 to 299 scoring edge.

Also on today's interstate slate, and battling for interest alongside the Ohio State-California game, is Ohio University's clash with Harvard at Cambridge, Mass. The talent-laden Bobcats are given a chance to upset the easterners.

Other clashes with out-of-state opponents include William & Mary at Cincinnati, St. Francis at Youngstown, Marshall at John Carroll and Fort Belvoir at Toledo in night games, and Morris Harvey at Baldwin Wallace, Wilmington at Manchester, Adrian at Defiance and Lincoln at Central State this afternoon. Dayton entertains the rough-and-ready Quantico Marines tomorrow. William and Mary invades Cincinnati fresh from a 6-6 tie with Navy.

On the home front Kent State invades Western Reserve for an afternoon event in the Mid-American Conference. Ohio Northern meets Ashland in the Mid—Ohio League. Denison plays Mount Union, Capital meets Hiram, Otterbein visits Oberlin, Heidelberg tangles with Ohio Wesleyan, and Kenyon meets Wooster in Ohio Conference daylight frays. Muskingum visits Akron for an Ohio Conference clash under the lights.

Non-league competition on the home front is strictly big-time, with Xavier's Musketeers visiting Oxford for a stern test at the hands of Miami's Redskins.

Bucyrus Gridders Down Galion 26-6

GALION—Bucyrus High's Redmen won their first Northern Ohio league football game over Galion Friday night, 26-6.

Last week, both teams were losers, Galion dropping its game at Shelby, and Bucyrus losing to Norwalk.

Bucyrus scored two touchdowns in the first quarter. The first was made by Tom Smith on a 10-yard run, and the second by Glen Butterman when he bucked on one-yard. Smith kicked one extra point.

Galion scored in the first quarter when Glen Scherer ran 70 yards. The extra point was missed.

Neither team scored in the second and fourth quarters, but Bucyrus notched 13, in the third period. Butterman scored on a one-yard run, Smith's kick for the extra point was good. The final touchdown for the visitors was made by Smith on a 20-yard run.

Irish Goal Still Uncrossed, Mt. Gilead Whipped 36-0

By GARY SAMS

St. Mary's fighting Irish scored in the first minute of play and added two more first period touchdowns to coast past an outgunned Mt. Gilead squad 36-0 Friday night at Harding Stadium. It was St Mary's second Mid-Ohio Conference win and third of the season

Coach Ray Robbins squad left little doubt as to the outcome of the game to the 900 fans as the locals scored the first three times they got their hands on the ball.

Early Score

Taking the kickoff and putting the ball in play at the St Mary's 34 yard stripe, End Pat O'Connor started the Irish rolling by circling end to the Mt. Gilead 34. Quarterback Roger Micheli hit O'Connor with a pass at the six after moving to the three on the next play. Micheli sneaked around end for the initial Irish tally. Only slightly over a minute of play had elapsed The pass from center was fumbled and Jerry Ballinger had no chance to try for the extra point.

Gene Brush returned the Irish kickoff 13 yards to the Mt. Gilead 28 and after John Staley hit to the 31, the Irish again were in possession of the ball on an interception by Don Shoemaker at the Irish 48.

Ted Kilbury moved St. Mary into Indian territory with a six-yard advance to the 46. Three plays later, Larry Ryan moved the ball 10 yards to the 30 and two running plays by Mike Anderson put the ball at the 10. O'Connor and Ryan carried to the two from where Micheli passed to O'Connor for an Irish score. With seven minutes of playing time gone, extra point attempt by Ballinger bounced off the goal post.

Able to advance the ball only two yards after putting the kickoff in play at the 32, Mt Gilead again was defending its goal when the Irish brought the punt back 12 yards to the losers' 36, Jack O'Keefe was tripped at the 10 after taking in a Micheli pass and then John Messenger skirted end to the five. Ted Kilbury went off tackle from there for the third St. Mary touchdown with 10 minutes of playing time gone. Ballenger's kick was low.

Fumbles Hurt

Fumbles near midfield stalled two other Irish drives as the second quarter opened but then the locals were in position for another score when Ryan intercepted a Brush aerial at the Irish 39. After Messenger made one yard to the 40, Anderson went around end to the Mt. Gilead 44 and Ryan carried to the 39. Anderson raced to the 29 from where Bob McMahan ran to the 20 and then Anderson advanced to the 15. Two and a half minutes remained in the first half when Messenger carried to the six, where he was pushed out of bounds and then Ryan shot through center for the fourth Irish tally Ballinger's kick again hit the goal post and bounced off

Ballenger set up the fifth Irish score when he returned a Mt. Gilead punt 65 yards into the losers' end zone late in the third period. He took the bounding punt at the 35 and beautifully eluded tacklers to the Mt. Gilead end zone but a clipping penalty brought the ball out to the 31. Then with Jerry Wilhelm, Bill Lyon, McMahan, Charles Bigler and Jim Campton alternating in carrying the ball to the two, Wilhelm went through center on the first play of the fourth quarter, Ballenger's kick was short.

St. Mary scored its final marker with less than three minutes left in the game. Taking the ball over on downs at the Irish 17, Roger Micheli hit Richard Micheli, with two passes to move the ball to the 28 Another pass fell incomplete but then Micheli hit Jack O'Keeffe, his other end, with an aerial at the Irish 45 and he went down the sidelines the remaining distance for the tally. Ballenger's kick was short.

Bench Cleared

With Ray clearing his bench in the second half, the reserves protected St Mary's uncrossed goal line Gene Brush, Mt. Gilead back, threw aerials all over the field as his team tried desperately to score Mt Gilead was at the Irish 13 yard stripe after recovery of an Irish fumble, a completed pass, pass interference and a 15-yard penalty but a pass intercepted by Bob Campton ended the threat. Taking the ensuing punt, Mt. Gilead was at the Irish 17 on a roughing-the-passer penalty but failed to score. The losers were out of their territory only thrice in the first half, advancing no farther than the Irish 37 on a pair of recovered St Mary fumbles and an intercepted pass

Meanwhile St. Mary was in Mt. Gilead's territory at the 27 at the game's end but were forced to give the ball up on a punt after being pushed back. The locals were

'Goats' Become Series Heroes In Short Hop

BROOKLYN (AP) — It's often a short hop from the role of "hero" to that of "goat"—and vice versa—in the World Series.

Ask Carl Erskine—

On Wednesday, Carl gives up three walks, two hits and four runs to the Yankees in the first inning and he's not permitted to start another. He's sent to the showers where later he dejectedly remarks: "I was wild I couldn't control my fast ball or my curve."

On Friday, just two days later, Erskine is the toast of the diamond world, winner over the Yankees 3-2 on a masterful pitching performance and new all-time strikeout king of the World Series with 14. "My overhand curves were breaking in there pretty good," he said.

Ask Mickey Mantle—

On Thursday, Mickey, the golden boy of the gold-plated Yankees, smashed a two-run homer in the eighth to give New York its second straight victory, 4-2. "It was maybe a screwball," said the grinning, taciturn Mantle as flashbulbs popped and reporters crowded his knees.

On Friday, 24 hours later, the same Mickey Mantle strikes out four times in succession, looking foolish in his wild swings at Erskine' benders. No flashbulbs this time. Just a question: "What happened, Mickey?" And the reply: A cold, dagger-like stare.

Ask Jackie Robinson—

Through the first two games, this superb athlete who long has been the driving force of the Dodgers has one sickly hit in eight appearances and misjudges a fly ball which goes for a home run that leads to the Yankees' second victory. "I just muffed it, that's all," says the frank Robinson. "I played it like an infielder. Shoulda had it in my pocket."

In the third game on Friday, Jackie gets three hits in four trips, including a double, scores on a squeeze bunt and makes a sensational catch in shortstop territory when the sun blinds Peewee Reese. "Doing a little better," he comments solemnly in the dressing room.

USC Trojans Roll Past Indiana 27-14

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Underrated Indiana met defeat but proved one thing for the benefit of the powerful Trojans of Southern California.

No team from the Big Ten must be taken lightly, including undermanned Indiana.

USC subdued the Hoosiers, 27-14, before 49,578 fans last night. The outcome was hardly to the satisfaction of the critics who rated Troy by 20 points or more.

Six Accidents In City Cause Injuries to Two

12-Year-Old Boy Admitted to Hospital; Woman Suffers Cuts

Five persons were injured in three of seven traffic accidents investigated in Marion city and county during the last 24 hours by city police and state highway patrolmen.

A 12-year-old boy was one of two persons hurt in two of six accidents in the city.

Ronnie Williams of 466 Olney Ave. received a head injury and a skinned right elbow when his bicycle and a car driven by Mrs Phyllis Trafzer, 28, of 489 McKinley St. collided at Blaine Ave. and Foster Lane at 6:33 p.m. yesterday.

First taken to a doctor's office for reatment, Ronnie was later admitted to Marion City Hospital where he is reported in "good" condition today.

The right front fender of the car and a luggage basket on the bicycle were damaged, police said.

In another mishap, Claire Kelly of 157 Camby Ct. received cuts on the head when the car in which she was riding crashed first into a parked car then into a utility pole She was treated at Cty Hosital for her injuries but not admitted

Meanwhile, Orville W. Vance, 36, of near Marion, driver of the car, was arrested on charges of reckless driving and driving without a driver's license. Another passenger in the car, Helen Johnson of 182½ N Main St was also arrested on a charge of permitting an unlicensed driver to drive a motor vehicle.

Police said witnesses told them Vance was driving the car west along E Center St. near he Isaly Dairy Store in such a manner as to cause other drivers to pull to the side of the street.

Police said he struck the rear of car parked across the street from the Isaly Dairy Store and owned by Russell L. Miller of Bucyrus and pushed it up over the curb onto a lawn in front of 390 E. Center St. Following this, according to what witnesses told police, Vance backed his car up, drove west around the parked car and some 200 feet further on drove into a utility pole at the side of the street

In Municipal Court this morning Vance was fined $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty to both charges against him. However the fine and costs on the charge of driving without a driver's license was suspended. Helen Johnson was also fined $15 and costs whpen she leaded guilty to the charge against her.

The remaining four accidents in the city were of minor nature

At 10 50 p m., two cars collided on State Route 95 seven and one-half miles west of Marion. According to patrol reports, Searl Munson, 24, of LaRue attempted to pass another car travelling east, the same direction as Munson was going.

Munson's car collided with a west-bound car driven by Richard Persinger, 26, of New Bloomington. Robert Littell, 22 and Persinger received numerous lacerations and cuts on the face and head They were taken to City Hospital by a passing motorist.

Both were reported in "fairly good" condition at the Hospital this morning

Both cars involved in the accident were badly damaged in both the front and rear ends.

Cites High Cost of Carelessness

Chief Sifritt Lists Ways To Eliminate Fire Hazards

Observance of Fire Prevention Week begins in Marion and the rest of the nation Sunday. It will be a week devoted to an attempt to instruct the public in the use of more caution when dealing with fire and materials that can be sources of fire.

Fire Chief Owen Sifritt said today that by using simple precautionary methods, many fires could be eliminated. Chief Sifritt, discussing replacement costs, said even in small fires where firemen were unable to confine the flames to one room, it cost property owners two to three times the amount of money to refurnish the burned-out areas as it did six years ago

HE STRESSED several points, saying rubbish fires are causing a great deal of damage in the city He added that if people would remove rubbish from their cellars, attics, and closets, fire losses would come down and many alarms would be eliminated.

Chief Sifritt went on to say that buildings which are classified as conflagration hazards should be protected by automatic sprinklers Such installations would pay for themselves out of savings in insurance premiums, and the conflagration areas would be eliminated.

He urged the installation of the sprinkler systems in basements of business establishments, explaining that most business fires originate in basements where fighting them is hardest. Firemen have difficulty forcing their way in, and often do not know what conditions will be when they reach the basement.

INSTALLATION OF sprinklers in basements, he said, would reduce by $200 million dollars the damage done in the nation's fires. Damage now totals over $800 million per year.

Carelessness in smoking and the use of matches were cited by the chief as one of the greatest sources of fires. Matches should be kept from small children, and a liberal supply of ash trays should be distributed around the house to try to reduce fires from smouldering cigarettes, Chief Sifritt said.

Chief Sifritt emphatically warned persons. 'Do not smoke in bed."

THE CAMPAIGN against fire this year is aimed at both city and county residents County schools will conduct special projects in an effort to teach farm children the dangers of fire.

A list of nine cautions was issued to farmers in the area by the National Fire Prevention Association and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Following is the list:

1. Don't smoke in the barn or bed. Never discard burning matches

2. Keep furnaces, stoves, brooders, and other heating devices clean and in good repair.

3. Store gasoline and kerosene in approved containers at least 40 feet away from main buildings, preferably underground.

4. Hire a competent electrician to do electrical work. Make sure there are enough circuits properly fused and of ample capacity to carry the load of modern electrical equipment. Replace frayed cords.

5. Use fire retarding roofing, such as asphalt shingles, asbestos, or metal, on all buildings.

6. Cure hay properly. Moisture frequently leads to spontaneous ignition even several weeks after the hay has been stored. If heating is suspected, test hay temperature periodically. It temperature rises to about 170 degrees, seek the advice of the local fire department.

7. Get rid of trash. Old newspapers, magazines and other debris can serve as tinder for any chance spark.

8. Keep oily rags in covered metal containers.

9. Protect all main buildings with an approved properly installed lightning rod system. Make sure TV antennas are equipped with lightning arrestors.

TO HELP CARRY the message to the farm residents, special literature and check sheets will be passed out in the county schools. In addition, discussion groups will be held by members of 4-H Clubs and FFA chapters.

Leading many of the discussions will be the associate agricultural extension service agent, Edwood Parrott

Activity here in the city will be on almost the same scale, with a few additions. The fire department will make spot checks of from three to 12 business establishments in the downtown area on Monday morning.

Names of the establishments to be inspected will be drawn at a ceremony in front of the courthouse at 10 a m These names will then be given to fire department officials who will make a trip to the chosen stores at once

RESULTS OF THE inspection will be made public by Chief Sifritt after they are completed They will be conducted on a regular basis with fire inspecting such things as electrical equipment, heating systems, fire extinguishers, doorways and fire exits, rubbish disposal and storage, and smoking places for employes.

In connection with Fire Prevention Week, the National Fire Prevention Association today released a list of the eight principal fire causes They are. careless smoking and handling of matches; misuse of electrity; defective heating apparatus; careless handling of kerosene, gasoline, and other inflammable liquids; needless accumulations of rubbish; lightning, defective chimneys; and children playing with matches.

Assisting him are Lowell Douce, Fire Chief Sifritt, Harry S. Hammond, Earl Sayre, John F Smith, R. S Kraner, John H Mills, Rex Kilbourn, R. C Hurr, W P. Moving of new equipment has been underway for several weeks, with "Y" officials scurrying between the old building on S State St. and the new one on E. Church St. During the past week, activity has been speeded up more than before as the final touches were put on the structure.

Residents of the dorm rooms will be permitted to move into their quarters on Monday. This will mark completion of the moving job.

The old YMCA building, used since 1893, will be put up for sale. Assets will be applied to the debts of the new structure.

It will be ready for sale upon occupancy of the new building Karl Schell is chairman of the building committee which is in charge of its disposal.

Construction on the old YMCA building was begun in 1891. It was opened in 1893 and has been in continuous operation since.

At one time a portion of the first floor of the building was owned by the late Amos Kling and occupied by the Marion Tribune, formerly called the Marion Mirror. In the 1920s, Kling gave the space to the "Y."

The local YMCA was one of the finest in the United States when it was built and was a showplace for many years An auditorium used for dancing and other activities on the third floor of the building was later converted into a gymnasium. The four-story brick structure contains approximately 30,000 square feet.

Pole Who Fled To West Tells Why He Bolted

WASHINGTON (AP)—What makes a mild speaking white collar man, a Pole who has lived under totalitarian domination half his life, cut all his ties and bolt to freedom?

Jan Hadjukiewicz did it Sept. 9 in Kangnung, Korea, and at the same time began telling why.

He has been telling more, in bits and mostly during news conferences, from Korea to Washington He arrived here yesterday to report to the State Department.

Love of Freedom

As he tells the story, love of freedom inspired him, chance played a large part, free world radio broadcasts were a goad and evidently the fierce nationalism of oft-conquered Poland never let him rest.

When he walked away from the Communist members of a neutral nations truce inspection team and up to an astonished U. S major to ask for asylum, he blurted his first explanation:

"It's my last chance."

Hadjukiewicz is 28. He was about 14 when the Nazis, later followed by the Reds, took over Poland. Of unheroic medium build, blond with a prematurely high forehead, he would look at home behind a desk in an American office. He sat behind a desk in the Polish Export-Import Agency before a crack in the Iron Curtain opened for him.

Son of Peasants

Hadjukiewicz is the son of peasants. His father lives off five hectares—about 12 acres. But he learned languages and rose to a bureaucrat's status.

He says, nonetheless, he was never a Communist, never even a member of any Communist youth organization.

He had never traveled outside Poland, but he said he knew that "the United States is a friend of our nation." He credited broadcasts of the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe for strengthening that belief.

Only Murder From Reds

As for Russia

"From Moscow . . we have known only murder, looting and slavery. . . the Soviets hate Poland and the Poles for their cultural superiority . . we dream of the moment when. . . the Kremlin agents, now lolling behind government desks, will be driven where they first came from—that is, Moscow."

Police Arrest Three, Cite Two Other Drivers

Three motorists were arrested and two were issued citations during the last 24 hours by city police

Arrested were Arthur E Johnson, 26, of Columbus, charged with passing in a no-passing zone on N Main St. and driving without a driver's license, George Young, 32, of 607 Herman St., failure to register a motor vehicle; and John B Hansom, 24 of 258 Elm St., operating a motor vehicle on a temporary license unaccompanied by a licensed driver.

Citations were issued to Charles F. Emmons, 18, of 719 Henry St., speeding 50 on Davids St., fined $15 and costs in Municipal Court Friday, and Ralph W. Drake, 32 of near LaRue, speeding on Uncapher Ave

All with the exceptions of Emmons were to appear in court today.

Police Details Bolstered

In New York, the world's greatest harbor, the struggle between the two unions has resulted in bolstered police details along the piers. The officers have staved off a number of clashes.

Yesterday the FBI reportedly tipped local police to a rumor that two gunmen were on their way here from Oregon to kill ILA President Joseph P. Ryan, confined to a hospital with an illness since last Monday. A round-the-clock police guard was placed on the 69-year-old Ryan's private hospital room

Dwyer Given Guard

Another police guard was given John Dwyer, a leader in the AFL's fight to drive Ryan's ILA off the docks. Dwyer, who took his Manhattan local out of the ILA and is now the ILA—AFL organizer in Manhattan, had two detectives by his side yesterday as he marched up and down the docks, calling on ILA pickets to bolt and join the AFL. Police called Dwyer's guard "unofficial"

President Eisenhower on Thursday invoked the Taft—Hartley Labor Act in the strike and appointed a three-man board of inquiry to report back to him by Monday midnight.

The board, which holds its first open hearings today, sent telegrams yesterday to ILA leaders and to the shippers The ILA—AFL was not invited, but its officials could try to testify at the public session.

Of scores of Negroes arrested by police, all but 23 had been released after questioning

As she was dying, a stab wound in her jugular vein, Mrs. Parker gasped to police that "a Negro man pulled me under the bridge and stabbed me" Examination revealed she had been raped.

She was buried yesterday in private funeral services. A tubercular husband, hospitalized for three years, a four-year-old son and her mother survived.

Yesterday, her grandmother—Mrs. Birtie Leora Gilmore, 77—died after hearing of her granddaughter's death over the radio

The Russians, presumably representing the Red Chinese point of view, have warned the conference may never take place unless the U. N adopts their proposal that certain Asian nations such as India, Burma and Pakistan sit in. The U. N. majority has voted against it

British Discuss Conference

The British Cabinet also discussed prospects of a top level conference with Russia to relieve world tensions, a question which India has been pushing at the U N.

India's chief delegate, V. K. Karishna Menon, continued behind-the-scenes talks with other delegations on his proposal that the Assembly make a formal request for a big power get-together. He was reported meeting some opposition, however.

A number of delegates have indicated they favored a meeting of the Western Big Three and Soviet Russia but were not ready to commit themselves to a formal resolution.

The United States has not announced its position on Menon's proposals but Washington has been cool toward other similar suggestions.

any implication of wrongdoing on my part"

Meanwhile, Paul L Troast, Republican candidate for governor of New Jersey, conceded he wrote a letter in 1951 to Dewey asking executive clemency for Fay. But he told a news conference he knew the one - time construction labor leader only as a "business connection and never socially" Troast said he saw "nothing improper" in the letter

Troast said he had not seen Fay since he entered prison His name was not on the list of visitors

Fay, former vice president of the AFL International Operating Engineers union, was convicted in 1945 of extortion and attempting to extort $386,000 from the Delaware aqueduct project The aqueduct is part of the New York City water system

He entered Sing Sing Feb 29, 1948, for 7½ to 15 years, after having served one year in a New York City jail.

'Fan' Mail Provides Proof

'Crusade for Freedom' Working in East Europe

NEW YORK (NANA) — Right now somewhere b hind the Iron Curtain, someone is writing and mailing a letter that may cost him his life If caught, his next address may be a camp where, chances are, he d work or starve to death And yet he writes, and his letters—from inside Communist-run eastern Europe—pour into the offices of the Crusade for Freedom every day

He is no Western spy or agent planted behind the enemy's lines He is a Bulgarian industrial worker a Cechoslovak miner, or an Albanian peasant He comes from a farm or any of the big cities the Reds have seized Prague, Budapest Bucharest, Sofia or Warsaw He writes and, writing makes a sieve out of the Iron Curtain Coupled with the Crusade for Freedom s 21 powerful Radio Free Europe transmitters he joins a vast, two-way communication effort which all the Reds have not yet been able to halt.

WHAT DOES HE write? Well, for one thing, he writes to tell America about the job the Crusade for Freedom has accomplished A letter from Hungary, for example, says: "RFE demoralizes, the opportunistic Communists and disintegrates party discipline Thanks to RFE s 'Black Book,' the enthusiasm of the Red agents has decreased considerably '

RFE's "Black Book" is a program that denounces Red informers, names Communist spies and warns Red agents to beware of the day when they'll be called to answer for their crimes and their atrocities

"Radio Free Europe says openly what we at home do not dare to say It restores our hopes" says a Hungarian tailor's apprentice in a letter smuggled through the curtain

Some letters criticize specific programs some chide Radio Free Europe for not urging an immediate war of liberation, and even fan mail is received A Polish girl writes the crusade 'Dear compatriots in exile' I have fallen for your announcer Stefan Wisniewski Please, tell me is he young? Is he good-looking? As for myself, I am eighteen and go to school . . ."

It all adds up to an impressive mailbag full of listener reaction and proof that Crusade for Freedom in which millions of Americans have joined is doing a good job of getting through and making a hit.

OTHER LETTERS SEND the crusade information which it can use against the Reds Such letters tell in human terms what life under the rule of the Kremlin is really like The people behind the Iron Curtain, refusing to be cowed by the Red terror, write the crusade the names of those who have joined the Red "goon squads" of torturers in Communist jails, of new restrictions on their freedom, they tell of arrests and keep the exiles who broadcast over RFE informed of every facet of existence under communism

In turn they often ask that the crusade help them with information And so, Radio Free Europe often broadcasts coded messages, giving its listeners addresses of their long-sought dear ones, telling them that a relative is safe in England, that a brother has started a new life in the US

These letters from behind the Iron Curtain which are far too numerous for the Reds to censor accurately, arrive in postoffice boxes scattered throughout Western Europe There, Radio Free Europe correspondents receive them and pass them on to Munich, where RFE s European headquarters is located Some reach New York, home of the Crusade for Freedom

Many are subjected only to a "spot check," with the Reds opening only every hundredth letter or so many are smuggled through the Iron Curtain by the underground or by refugees who have made their way to freedom in the West However they come they contain the inspiring message that the peoples behind the Iron Curtain are far from cowed far from willing slaves of Moscow They tell the West that it has its friends not only on this side of the Iron Curtain, but behind it as well that we must never despair of those who live today under the heel of the Kremlin

LISTENING TO RFE and writing to the Crusade for Freedom can be punished by death There is a law behind the Iron Curtain that provides the death penalty for 'warmongers" and, in Communist gobbledegook anyone having contact with the West is suspected of 'warmongering"

What the Reds fear is not only RFE s impact but the very fact that people over whom they rule are regularly in touch with all the millions of Americans who swell the ranks of the Crusade for Freedom The Kremlin would like to choke off this communication and nothing worries them more than RFE and the CRUSADE which, as one letter says, is eastern Europe s real 'address of freedom '

All Homes Should Expect Few Fleas

EAST LANSING Mich (UP)— Michigan State College entomologists say fleas in the home are no disgrace—in fact, they should be expected

The experts say fleas "accumulate" in houses left empty for a week or so and generally cause a minor panic when the woman of the house returns

But fleas are present in just about every home, especially if there are dogs or cats around When the house is left empty, the fleas breed and hatch faster because there are no "disturbing elements" such as movement to distract them

To get rid of them MSC specialists recommend DDT powder sprinkled on floors overnight and then removed with a vacuum cleaner If there are cats in the house, however DDT cannot be used because it is poisonous to the animals

Jail Visitor Himself Is Put Behind Bars

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 21-year old man, visiting his brother in jail, was given a cell of his own yesterday when police pried open his mouth and found what they believed to be narcotics

Clark L Goin popped the contraband—wrapped in cotton—into his mouth and tried unsuccessfully to swallow it when police started to give him a routine search The youth already is on probation for a narcotics offense

The substance taken from his mouth was given to a city chemist for testing Goin was held for investigation

He went to the jail to see his brother, Ralph, 30, held on burglary and theft charges

SEPARATE TRIALS ASKED

Organizational Meeting Set by Music Group

Marion men are invited to attend a pre-organizational meeting of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America Monday at 8 p m. at the Veterans Memorial at S. Main St. and Delaware Ave.

Anyone who enjoys music, "even if he can't carry a tune", is welcome to attend the meeting, according to Walter E. Mathiot of 358 Brightwood Dr, temporary chairman of the proposed chapter

Members of the Kenton chapter and a quartet will be at the meeting to entertain and to explain the procedure for organizing

Mathiot has mailed approximately 50 letters to persons in Marion whom he thought would be interested in barbershop singing, inviting them to the meeting. Other persons wishing to become members are invited.

Long interested in the barbershop type of singing, Mathiot decided to attempt to organize a group here as Marion was the only town in the area without a chapter

The organization is first dedicated to community service and enjoyment of persons interested in the barbershop type of singing A non-profit organization, its four fundamental aims are to keep barbershop quartet singing as a traditional form of American folk music; to give every member an opportunity to sing in a permanently organized quartet and chorus and to encourage and assist the forming of as many good quartets as possible from among the members; to promote the best possible chorus singing of songs arranged in barbershop style; and to foster maximum althruistic participation of SPE. BSQSA. units in worthwhile community, state and national projects

Great Lakes Ships Collide, One Man Killed

PORT HURON, Mich (AP)—A Canadian pilot was killed as a small German freighter sank last night after colliding with a Great Lakes ore carrier in the St. Clair River on a moonless night.

Seventeen crewmen of the ill-fated DIFG Wallschiff, 882 - ton Lubeck, Germany, freighter - its entire crew - were rescued from the swift-moving river.

The Wallschiff collided with the 9,600-ton Pioneer, an ore carrier of the Cleveland-Cliffs Fleet in the narrow river between Port Huron and Sarnia, Ont.

Only the spars and part of the Wallschiff's stack were showing above water

The Wallschiff sank in seven minutes after the Pioneer tore a gaping hole in its port side.

The Pioneer was downbound from Detroit to Verdome Hotel in Sarnia, Ont. northbound from Detroit to Muskegon Mich., with 200 tons of ore when it struck the Wallschiff. The crewmen were taken to the Hotel Verdome in Sarnia, He declined to talk to reporters.

Woman Charged With Setting Fire To Hotel in Illinois

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—Miss Joyce Davlin, an attractive 31-year-old archeologist, was charged with arson yesterday after prosecutors said she admitted setting fire to a 108-room resort hotel

However, the fire in the three-story frame Mineola Hotel at Fox Lake was confined to one room. There were no guests in the hotel but five persons were in the basement tavern when the fire was discovered Thursday night.

State's Atty. Robert C. Nelson said Miss Davlin told him she spread 18 gallons of gasoline in 30 of the rooms and then tossed a homemade torch into one of the rooms. Nelson said Miss Davlin, by closing the door to the room with the torch in it, prevented the fire from spreading.

The present operator of the hotel, Peter Jakstas, has been battling in the courts for seven years over ownership with Miss Davlin's mother Kathryn, a widow, and the latter's sister, Mrs. Cora Welch

Italy, which is about three-fourths the size of California, has 412 people per square mile compared with 68 per square mile in California.

YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

With the cost per cubic foot of house rising steadily, very little attention is given by the builder to the small refinements in construction and finish which previously made the American house the envy of the world. Unfortunately, though we still have good carpenters and tradesmen left, rarely are they permitted to make full use of their skills. Speed and economy in construction, rather than meticulous workmanship, are the order of the day. As a result most houses built since Word War II are full of equipment and fittings which fall far below the standards of 20 years ago. Along with substandard materials and slapjack workmanship, builders show little evidence of good basic thinking and efficient planning in many critical parts of the house.

One item that particularly irks us is doors. Once upon a time the builder would be careful about the direction in which a door opened. He would never allow a closet door to open out into a small room where it would stick out and most likely hit against an expensive piece of furniture or interfere with traffic through the room.

It's a different story today. Most likely you have bought a home with one such door—perhaps in a small bedroom. If you are tired of putting up with it, there is an easy solution—sliding doors. The sliding door is probably the easiest way to cover a wall opening. It offers the advantage of requiring no room space, is noiseless, will not jam or stick and almost never needs adjustment. They are economically priced and modern.

The simplest sliding door for the do-it-yourself homeowner to install is one that hangs from rollers that ride in a channel-iron track. The track is secured above the inside door frame. There is available a wide choice of door panels from processed wood to natural wood. All in all, the low cost of materials added attractiveness and convenience of a sliding door make this project very worthwhile.

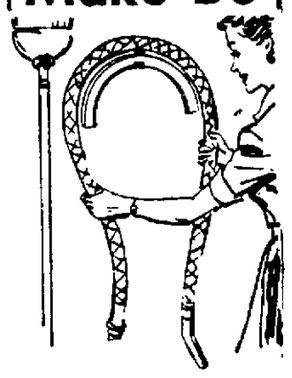
MANY WASTE DISPOSERS

Nearly 1,500,000 homes in the United States are equipped with food waste disposers, it is estimated by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. Sales in 1951 totalled 335,000 units, the Bureau says, and points out that the electric food diposer has had a remarkable rise in public acceptance. Because the unit is connected with the water supply and waste disposal system, it is generally regarded as a plumbing item, the Bureau points out.

Make Do



IT'S EASY to store a vacuum cleaner hose when you make a rack out of an old wheel rim of a balloon-tire bike. Cut the rim in half so the valve stem hole will be centered. This accommodates a bolt for mounting the rack on an angle iron.

Students May Take Deferment Examination

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state selective service system will issue application blanks upon request to students wishing to take college qualification tests next month.

The first tests will be given Nov. 19 at 35 colleges and universities in Ohio. Results of the tests will be used by local draft boards in considering student deferments. Full-time students can take the tests or they can rely solely on their class standings, a selective service official said.

Students may secure applications from local draft boards.

EX-BUCYRIAN GETS AWARD

BUCYRUS—Word has been received here that Rowland R. Peters, former Bucyrian who now is owner of the Nocona, Tex., News has been awarded first place for promotion of local industry by a Texas weekly newspaper. The contest was conducted by the Texas Manufacturers' Association and Peters will receive a cash award of $250 and a certificate at the association's annual banquet at the Shamrock Hotel in Houston, Oct. 29. Peters was editor of the Bucyrus Telegraph-Forum for a number of years, resigning in 1948, to become editor of the Elwood, Ind., Call-Leader.

'MURDER' STORY A HOAX

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Police have freed Homer W. Setty, 66, who confessed to a "murder" early in the week. Butler County officials said yesterday they never could find the body. Setty said he buried and they became convinced his story was a hoax.

The elephant is by far the largest land animal today.

Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q: We are planning to put plastic tile on our attic floor. Is it necessary to put down a second layer of wood flooring? It seems to me it should not be necessary. However, the sub-flooring has large cracks. Is it possible to fill these with something? I am trying to save the cost of putting down another layer of wood flooring.

A: I'm sorry to say that it will be necessary to put down a double layer of flooring as a base for any type of composition tile. The reason for this is to eliminate any unsteadiness and to provide a smooth and level surface for the tile. It is not necessary to put down a regular wood flooring. The usual material suitable for this purpose is plywood or a hard fibre board. Four foot by four foot sheets laid with staggered joints are usually recommended and the cost would be much less than the regular wood flooring.

Q: Six years ago we purchased a brick-veneer home with steel casement windows and fitted with inside storm sash. The sill and window opening are five inches wide and made of plaster. This plaster is cracking and crumbling. We would like to replace the plaster with wood or some other suitable material. Should the frame and sill be flush with the inside walls or have a molding around?

A: Local millwork dealers should have in stock, or should be able to get for you, window trim that could be installed to frame out your casement. It would be best to finish off the edge of the window opening with a molding and a small molding should be used under the sill to give it a finished appearance.

Q: Mosquitoes and other small insects come right through the ordinary screen mesh in our doors. Is there a finer mesh made to keep the pesty things out: We have tried kerosene on the screening, but that only lasts a few hours because it evaporates.

A: Copper and bronze as well as aluminum screening is made in finer mesh. However, you may find it difficult to purchase same in small quantities through local hardware dealers. Ask one of them to try and get this for you. In the meantime wipe the screening with a good insecticide containing DDT.

SAFEGUARD TRANSFORMERS

The proper finishes for the electrical transformers you see on telegraph poles are as important to electrical companies as they are to the public. Such specially formulated finishes must be able to withstand the hard knocks received during installation and servicing. They must also resist sudden temperature changes without blistering and cracking. In addition, they must keep a uniform appearance year in and year out for as long as 20 years.

Football Game Injuries Fatal to College Player

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — John Pappas, 20-year-old guard on the Boston University football team, died today of injuries suffered in last night's game against Syracuse University.

Pappas suffered a head injury in the third period when a Syracuse play drove into the Terrier line. Pappas was knocked unconscious and was carried from the field.

POW! RIGHT ON THE KISSER

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I don't like women," Frank Spencer, 26, told police after he was arrested for walking up to a woman on a downtown street and punching her on the jaw. He was jailed for investigation as a suspicious person. The woman, Mrs. Mary Luffman, 33, was treated for a possible jaw fracture.

Ohio's total, including state and federal contributions, was $122,276,000 as of Aug. 31. New York's was $256,197,000 and California's, $124,893,000, according to figures released by the Bureau of Public Roads.

Sen. McCarthy, Bride Honeymoon in Nassau

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Government regulations have disclosed that Sen Joseph R. McCarthy and his bride are honeymooning in Nassau.

The Republican senator from Wisconsin had said most of his honeymoon with the former Jean Kerr would be spent in his home state, but rumors at their wedding reception in Washington said they would head for an Arizona inn.

The Miami Herald said the couple came to Miami and boarded a plane for Nassau. McCarthy left instructions with the flying service that the information was not to be given out.

But he overlooked one important detail. Passenger lists of planes going to foreign countries must be filed with the government A reporter saw McCarthy's name on the list.

HARRISON, Ohio (AP) — Fires swept through hundreds of acres of underbrush, pastureland and forest, in the Indiana—Ohio border area Thursday without causing major damage.

Bricker Raps Manufacturers On Sales Trick

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen Bricker (R-Ohio) said today "unscrupulous manufacturers" apparently are "deliberately confusing" the Army Engineers in order to sell them spare equipment parts the Army doesn't need.

In a letter to Chairman Saltonstall (R - Mass) of the Senate Armed Services Committee Bricker suggested an investigation of the practice The letter listed other criticisms Bricker said he had heard about Army Engineer procurement.

Bricker said this is what happens in one type of spare parts manipulation:

Some manufacturers sell a piece of equipment to the engineers purchasing center at St. Louis, then supply a parts list.

The spare parts supply control office in Columbus, Ohio, may have all these parts

But the unscrupulous manufacturer, Bricker continued, changes the numbers on the parts. The control office, thinking this a new type of part, then orders a shipment from this manufacturer

Bricker said this "little trick" is known at the control office as the "numbers racket."

He asked Saltonstall if the armed services committee staff could be asked to "make such investigation as may be warranted."

Loose Doors, Windows Up Costs

Winterizing Home Poses Problem for Handyman

How to get your house ready for next winter is going to be a problem. So many advertising men are going to be figuratively standing around kibitizing.

This is because new products are being introduced—and reintroduced. The home handyman is certain to put the local hardware dealer or building supply house on the spot by asking what product is the most important.

Weatherstripping Needed

New heating plants are rated as X per cent efficient. Insulation is supposed to save you X dollars. Weatherstripping, according to the University of Minnesota's institute of Technology, Engineering Experiment Station, should cut your fuel bills by 24 per cent.

So weatherstripping is something you are going to pay for every month before you get it. You will pay for it in your fuel bills without realizing what you are doing. If you like to pay fuel bills, you can save time for writing your checks by not reading this column.

But if your house already is weatherstripped, don't be too quick to smirk. When a stiff wind is blowing, hold a match or candle up to the edges or corners of your windows and doors to see how much your house leaks air. A need for renewed weatherstripping is not unusual.

Some Types Costly

Interlocking metal weatherstripping — a costly installation — is generally conceded to be the best—when it's put in right. This writer had such a type installed in a new house a few years ago. The job was done by professionals. Yet, the breeze that blows in at lower corners of the front door is enough to put goose flesh on your ankles.

The idea of weatherstripping is to reduce air leakage around windows and doors. It's not a matter of hermetically sealing a house. It's just getting things down to who's boss—you, or the weather. When you want ventilation you can get it, but you don't want to spend the winter with one window half open all the time.

The Weatherstrip Research institute says that ordinary windows are so loosely fitted that the clearance around the sashes is equal to a hole 4 inches square. The last version we heard of that story was that such leakage equalled a hole 3 inches in diameter. Not knowing how to square the circle, we never were able to check up. But it is obvious that either version means we all get a lot of free air through something that is not a wise crack.

Now a new kind of flexible, easy-to-apply weatherstripping is being distributed through retail stores. Designed along the lines of the window seals used on modern automobiles, it relies on a wool pile to keep the weather out.

Instead of this wool pile—like a dense brush—being embedded in a metal strip as it is in automobiles and airplanes, it is sealed in a flexible, narrow plastic strip. Ivory colored, this plastic strip is indented for tack holes at regular intervals and tacks of a matching color are supplied.

Made by the Schlegel Manufacturing Co., Rochester, N. Y., the material, is expected to sell at hardware and department stores for about 10 cents a foot.

In the past, the main objection to flexible versus metal weatherstripping has been that flexible forms are bound to wear out in time. The handyman undoubtedly is prepared for this. Knowing the cost of metal types and the difficulty of proper installation, he is likely to settle for an efficient flexible job for as long as it lasts.

Incidentally, C. F. Schlegel, president of the manufacturing company, says weatherstripping sales are increasing in southern states where air conditioning requires keeping cool air inside and warm air out.

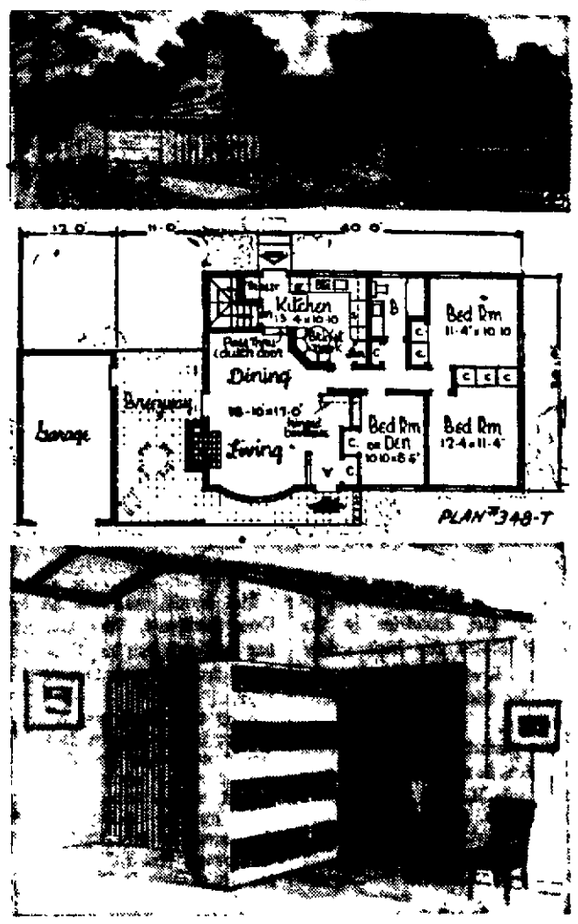
House Has Hinged Wall



YOU CAN CHANGE YOUR MIND after this house is built. A swinging bookcase wall makes this a compact and economical three-bedroom, complete family home. Or swung open, the hinged library merges the ample living-dining room with adjoining den. A Dutch door pass-through between kitchen and dining area is an attractive feature. This is Plan 348-T by Edward Tyler, 586 Macon Place, Uniondale, N.Y. The house proper covers only 1,040 square feet without breezeway and garage—a handy figure for estimates.

Alloy Cast Steel Wins Safety Award

ALLOY CAST STEEL CO. employes are shown admiring a safety award presented to employes and management of the company recently for their outstanding safety record.

Left to right are Lewis Stanley, union committeeman; Ellis Oiler, president of Local No. 1947, CIO; Don Penry, assistant superintendent; Keith Welch, superintendent; Ronald Beach union committeeman; and James Jenkins, union committeeman. The union committeemen act as safety advisors in their respective departments.

One of the few plaques awarded to steel foundries in the United States for high safety records, it was presented by the Steel Founders Society of America.

The plaque reads: "The Steel Founders Society of America presents this Highest Honor Safety Award to the employes and management of The Alloy Cast Steel Company for outstanding performance in steel foundry operation for the period June through August 1953."

The award was for no lost time accidents. The company has had only two lost time accidents from Jan. 1 to date this year.

Alloy Cast Steel was a group winner in the Marion Industrial safety campaign for 1952. The earlier safety award was presented to the company at the first annual safety meeting sponsored by the Marion Safety Council and Industrial Commission of Ohio. In 1952, the company had 394,000 man hours with only four disabling accidents

Watch Out for Those Machines!

Gadgets Getting Too Smart for People

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—How would you like to come home late some night and be forced to give a password to a snarling vacuum cleaner before it would let you through the door?

You think it can't happen here? It can.

Machines are on the march toward a goal we do not know. They are evolving 1,000 times faster than the human race did. When machines intermarry today, nobody can be sure what their offspring will be able to do.

The poor old phonograph could only reproduce the sound of a voice or a musical instrument. But look at its fabulous grandson, television.

Television not only can bring the world into your living room. It has restored the dead to life. Well, anyway, everybody thought some of those comedians were dead. Who would dare predict today this miraculous machine won't even in time be able to provide them with live jokes?

It is no longer possible for a man to tell what will happen when one machine weds a second machine, or even when one chemical substance is mated to another.

Wouldn't a fellow think that if you put something like chlorophyll into ordinary toothpaste all you would get would be green toothpaste? But what happened when you tried it? You found you were not only cleaning your teeth—you were also dyeing a lingering breath.

Take the old simple straight edge razor. The only people who had to worry about it were careless guys with long noses. Along came the safety razor and made even their morning mowing secure.

But then somebody cross-bred the safety razor with the outboard motor and we got the electric razor. A few people still object it is too noisy. And do you think the electric razor will take that kind of criticism lying down?

No, indeed. It will propose marriage to radio, an old maid machine that right now seems looking for any fair offer, and the result will be a razor that gives off music instead of a racket.

A tuneful shave sounds like a great idea. But naturally the razor's gears will be synchronized with the musical notes. That means you may have to shave in waltz time on a day when you are in a hurry and would prefer a fox trot tempo. With a really heavy beard you might have to wait until the radio station broadcast the overture from William Tell.

Now about the vacuum cleaner. The other day my wife was test piloting a fresh model in our home. It was one of those new marvels that purrs at people and growls at dirt, has chromium bumpers, a front and rear view mirror, can be pushed around by a wife like a scooter, and is so soft-hearted it breaks into tears if it finds out the electricity it uses costs the family more than six cents a year.

Yet the salesman said it also would sniff through an old suit like a hound, trail down any hidden moth and bravely fight it to he death.

It was also guaranteed to stroke the dust from furniture with loving care, wash windows, wax floors, clean venetian blinds, fight fire, fog and hunger, and take the fleas off a dog and put them back on him in a place where he could scratch them more comfortably.

"And it will even remove lint from a rug as well as a broom," the salesman said finally.

I thought that was going too far.

"Next," I sneered, "you'll be telling me this machine will photograph the baby, obey traffic lights, and attack strange intruders."

"No, I'll be honest with you," he said, frankly. "Those are just a few of the improvements we are planning for our later models. Our big problem with our machines now is to keep them from outstripping our customers intellectually."

So whenever you pass your wife's vacuum cleaner, reach down and pat it on its little high forehead—or the next model may come in barking at you.

Britain Pushes Plan To Break Talk Deadlock

LONDON (AP)—Britain reportedly is pushing a plan aimed at breaking the Korean peace conference deadlock by letting both sides invite certain neutrals, including India, to join the deliberations.

Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd who has been working with the United States and other United Nations members in an effort to get the Korean parley started by Oct. 28, was expected to arrive by plane today from New York to confer with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Lloyd was summoned yesterday after diplomatic informants said the Churchill Cabinet had worked out the new Korean strategy.

Although no official details were available on the plan, the informants said it was based on the assumption that the proposed Korean peace parley will have to be broadened.

It proposes, they said, that the peace conference as a whole—the Communist side as well as the U.N. side—now agree to invite neutrals to join in the talks. The U. S. has agreed the conference itself could invite outsiders—but only after it begins its deliberations.

The Russians have warned the conference may never take place unless the U. N. adopts their proposal that certain Asian nations —such as India, Burma and Pakistan—sit in.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Religion Is a Practical Thing

My friend, John Ryder, head of a large New York City advertising firm, made a discovery that I think will interest you.

DR. PEALE

Not too long ago, Mr. Ryder says he was engaged in the sharply-competitive dog-eat-dog practices which characterize some businesses. "There was a premium on being shrewd," he recalls, "and it bothered me."

And, although his business was earning him a living, his personal life seemed rather unhappy and pointless. Then, one day, someone took him to a meeting of businessmen who talked in a natural manner about how you could apply religious principles to business.

"The thing that impressed me most," he says, "was that these were men like me, with similar problems and interests. It was when I heard people of my own kind tell how God and prayer had worked in their lives that I became convinced religion was a practical thing."

MR. RYDER THOUGHT about this and did some praying of his own. Then he called his staff together and announced that his business was going to be run by the principles of the Bible.

"But, John," they told him, "you'll go broke doing that."

"I felt in my heart," he remembers, "that I was going to go through with it whether I went to the wall or not."

Some of his best people left him—they did not believe they could work under such "radical" conditions. But those who remained joined their prayers to his. They would hold a meeting to discuss and pray about business problems. At home the associates prayed about them privately.

NEXT MORNING, they would come together again; and before taking up problems, a chapter from the New Testament was read—this in a business house, not a church, mind you. They recited the Lord's Prayer together, then prayed about the specific problems needing solution, and the salesmen out on the road prayed in the morning at the same time as the home office force.

"When I began my business," says Mr. Ryder, "it was a small one, but it has increased tenfold."

Mr. Ryder is now engaged in a half dozen activities of a purely religious nature and has a large-ate secretary to handle each one of these. And he is doing better financially, better physically and better spiritually than ever before in his life.

OF COURSE, the danger in suggesting that you ought to follow Mr. Ryder's example is that some super-pious individual will call it materialistic and accuse me of saying that I advocate doing business this way to make money. I am only saying that things will go right if you ask the Lord's help and follow those principles. Everybody ought to do the best he can with himself and with the work in which he is engaged. Religious principles are designed to help people make the most of themselves.

There is a definite spiritual law. (1) Put your life and work in God's hands. (2) Live by God's guidance in daily affairs. (3) Live unselfishly and with love for other people. (4) Give good service and do good work. Anyone who lives on this basis will find the deepest satisfaction in living, and as I have observed in such people, experience the law of material supply as well.

PEOPLE WHO live in this manner have big faith and pray big prayers. The average prayer is too little and it is based on a very weak faith, usually. Little prayers never get higher than your lips, for they have no power under them and no faith in them. Do many people, even while they are praying, really believe?

"Suppose you were God; would you answer the prayers of people who had no real faith in you? Perhaps you would say, "Until he means his prayer and believes, I will withhold my answer." An all-out faith that takes in your whole life, personal, business, family, is the kind that makes great things happen.

All around us is the creative power of the universe. And this power can be demonstrated in human lives and make life wonderful for anyone. It can take all poor human failures and transform them into glorious achievements. When you actually let your religion be the guiding factor in your life, you will find what thousands are discovering, that it makes everything wonderfully different.

Most folks who have never employed me for an auction sale ask the question above. If I knew to a dollar what I was going to get from any sale I would be employed by other auctioneers to tell them what they could get. I can make an estimate and that's all. The realization of a dream . . . . .

YOUR New YMCA

To the Citizens of the Community:

After many years of planning and work our new Young Men's Christian Association building is now available for use. Its facilities offer to the families of Marion city and county one of the most modern and finest equipped building of its kind in the country.

We are especially proud because the "Y" is now in a position to offer a program to women and girls as well as men and boys. Although the "Y" is a membership organization and derives most of its income from this source, the new building incorporates many features for the community at large.

The "Y" starts its 61st year of service in our community this year. This new building provides for greatly increased services to thousands of people. The Christian Program offered in wholesome atmosphere should pay dividends for years to come.

May I take this opportunity to thank the thousands of individuals and groups who through contributions of time and money have made this building possible.
This building is yours --- to gain from your investment you must use it --- Speaking for the Y.M.C.A. Board of Directors --- We are pleased to make it available to you.

Sincerely,

A. W. Kette, President
Board of Directors

Offering a Variety of Programs Appealing to The Entire Family —

This is one of the first Y.M.C.A. buildings to offer programs for both sexes. Parents with their children may participate together. The family program will be organized to give each member above school age a means of recreational expression through working, playing and worshiping together.

Individual "Y" members, regardless of age or sex may take part in programs of a spiritual, mental and physical nature. These programs are planned and conducted by lay-committees of your choice.

PICTURED AT THE RIGHT is the youth lounge room . . . a meeting place for the young people of Marion. It has a relaxing charm that makes a delightful background for many events in the life of the Y M C A. and the city.

Marion's 'Y' Is First Designed for Men and Women

$900,000 Structure Built For Use of All in Community

The new YMCA building is one of the most modern "Y" buildings in the country. Constructed at a cost of about $900,000, it is one of the very few in the nation designed for the purpose of serving both men and women.

According to Arthur Haas, general secretary of the "Y", the new building is the first in the country to have been built from the start to handle this double need.

The new building has been designed to permit the simultaneous use of all facilities except the swimming pool and dormitories by members of both sexes. The dormitories are for men only and the pool will be used at separate times by the opposite sexes, except during family night swimming parties.

DESIGNING THE building for equal use by men and women and boys and girls has resulted from a trend toward more and more participation in YMCA activities by women.

Before World War II, membership in the YMCA was generally considered to be for men only. Since the close of the war, though, more and more women have been taking advantage of the facilities offered by the organization.

In Ohio alone, about 40,000 women have joined various branches of the YMCA. The female membership in Marion is about 800.

This has taken place in cities where no YWCA facilities are offered. The Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations are two separate and distinct organizations, although the goals of each are similar.

Mixed activities will be well handled in the new building. Large halls for dances and meetings have been constructed, and a 5,000 square foot youth center has been built, which can be used for dancing and other activities.

THERE IS ALSO an auditorium which can seat 250 persons. This can be used for special gatherings and meetings. There are special game rooms designed for the use of both boys and girls.

Locker rooms for both men and women have been constructed to permit the simultaneous use of the athletic facilities by members of both sexes. In the old building, use of the athletic facilities was restricted to use by men and women at separate times.

The new structure is equipped with a swimming pool 25 by 75 feet in area. By a constant filtering process, clean water is continually supplied to the pool.

THERE ARE TWO large gymnasiums completely equipped. One measures 80 by 52 feet and the other is 66 by 40 feet. Basketball courts have been marked off in both gyms.

Adjoining shower and locker rooms have been constructed to serve both men and women.

There are also separate lounges for men and women. Adjoining the women's lounge is a modern kitchen.

Seven meeting rooms may be used by clubs, study groups or organizations which desire to hold chapel services.

THERE IS ALSO a large craft shop where persons may learn and practice handiwork. For the adults, there is a special health department with steam and hotrooms and suitable apparatus and attendants.

Twenty-nine dormitory rooms are offered for men. All but one of the rooms are single rooms. The other is a double. Rates range from seven to nine dollars per week. Most of the rooms rent for eight dollars, though.

Fund raising for the building began in 1950. The first contribution was from the Marion Youth Fund, which had been set up by various industries in Marion during World War II. Out of that fund, the "Y" received $250,000.

WITH THIS AS a start, a campaign was conducted for contributions from individuals, business houses, industry and organizations, and most of the cost of the building was raised. In all, there were some 4,800 individual gifts which helped pay for the building.

In the original fund drive, from March to July, 1950, contributions totaled $710,000. Since that time more donations have been received, bringing the total amount to $752,910.

Operating expense of the new building will be approximately $65,000 per year. This is compared to a yearly expense in the old building of about $42,000. Increased revenue from the new building is expected to offset the increased expenses.

Actual cost of the building itself has been estimated at about $800,000. The other $101,000, is needed to pay for the site of the building, the fund raising campaign, architects' services, recording fees, landscaping, equipment, moving of equipment from old building, and other miscellaneous details which require services.

YMCA OFFICIALS stress the fact that they still need contributions and will be glad to give details to anyone interested, even though the building is now complete.

Adequate parking space is offered on both sides of the building as well as in the rear. Part of the property is an alley running behind the building.

This will be closed off at one end and used as a driveway to the ATHLETIC AND SOCIAL FACILITIES will attract the attention of both young and old in Marion after the new YMCA building is opened Sunday. The facilities are designed to care for the needs of boys and girls and men and women alike.

Something for All

Broader Activities Program Will Be Offered by YMCA

An enlarged program and many new activities will be offered to Y members at the new YMCA building.

One of the new activities will be a crafts program.

A ceramic kiln at the YMCA will give adults and children an opportunity to make ceramics and pottery ware.

The wood craft program has been expanded with the acquisition of power tools and a complete wood shop. One of the tools is a drill press with buffer attachments and polishing attachments of all kinds.

AN ARTS AND CRAFT shop which will include free hand draw drawing, water coloring, metal craft etc. is another new area covered in the new Y structure.

Gymnasium facilities are expanded. There are two gym floors and such equipment as trapeeze, climbing ropes, a buck, side horse and high bar. A much larger swimming pool with a diving board is another improvement over the old building.

The Health Club is also new. This group, for men interested in keeping trim, has the use of eight rooms in the basement. Included are a lounge, locker room, swedish bath, massage room, sunlamp room, individual exercise room, a resting room and shower room.

ANOTHER INDIVIDUAL exercise room for all YMCA members is also located in the new building.

Included in the exercise rooms are an electric bicycle, a vibrator, stall bars, wall weights, a rowing machine, and punching bags for boxing.

Seven meeting rooms are set aside specifically for club activities and community use and there is a youth center for recreation purposes. There is also a youth lounge to accommodate boys and girls.

ALTOGETHER, some 58 different activities will be offered at the new YMCA.

Among them will be badminton, basketball, boxing, boys Gra-Y leagues, ceramics, checkers, Club Co-Ed activities, competitive swimming, Day Camp, family programs, floor hockey, girls Gra-Y leagues, group games, gymnastics, Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y programs, individual exercise, individual couseling, induction services, informal education, interest trips, Junior Hi-Y, Junior Tri-Hi-Y, leather craft, life saving classes, metal crafts, model craft, movies, oil painting, physical fitness classes, ping-pong, photography, resident camping, religious services, round dancing, softball, square dance classes, summer fun activities, swim classes, television, touch football, water basketball, water color painting, water polo, water stunts and diving, weaving, weight lifting, wood craft, wrestling, youth and government programs and volley ball.

The Foundation of Our New YMCA Building

was actually begun in April, 1892

when Amos H. Kling offered to donate the ground for a Y.M.C.A. building on condition that not less than $15,000 be raised for such a building by the citizens of Marion in 30 days from the 24th of April, 1892.

This action was taken after a small group of men had organized on February 7, 1891, the Young Men's Gospel Workers' Union The officers of this Union were W J Grills, president, T H B Beale, vice president; Victor Jump, secretary and H Meredith, treasurer.

The Y M G W U was invited to send delegates to the Y's state convention and these men returned so enthused over that organization that steps were taken immediately to affiliate with the Y. M C. A.

On April 13, 1892, with a list of 530 prospective members, the Marion branch of the Y M C A was organized. It was also at this meeting that Mr. Kling made his offer.

On April 26 the organization was incorporated and these men Jesse Hunter, D F Edwards, J G Leffler, J C Markert, W C Denman, Lewis Gunn, Edward Huber, W J Grills, John F Lust, J W. Headley, C. E. Buckles, Isaac Shupp and S H Keller, signed the articles of incorporation Officers elected were president, W J Grills, vice president, D F. Edwards, secretary, E C Smith, treasurer, J G Leffler*.

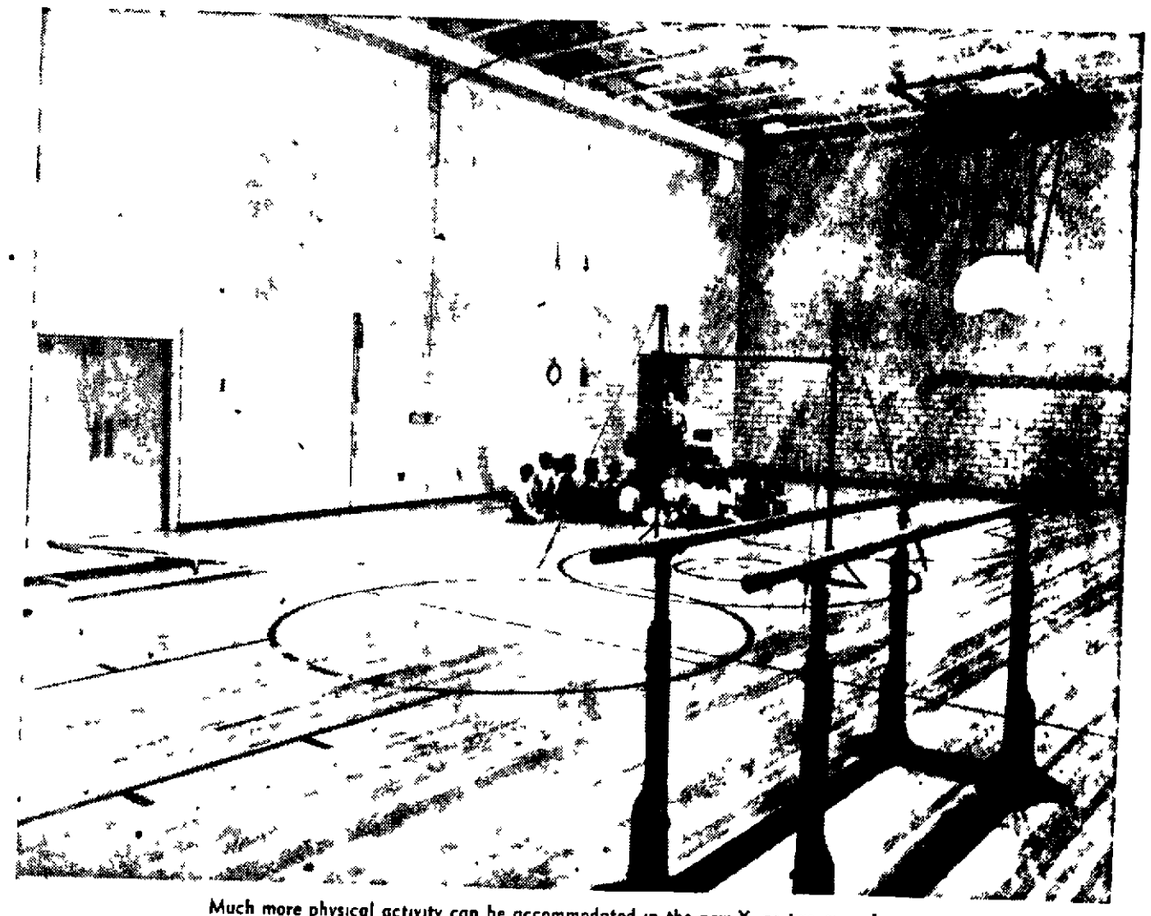
Reprinted from The Marion Star of Saturday, June 15, 1895

Then...as Now---

This magnificent new structure that is being dedicated tomorrow, is a result of hours and hours of hard work by civic-minded leaders and their countless assistants --- plus the generosity of the citizens of Marion County.

This building though, represents only the physical accomplishment --- the greatest benefit of these labors and sacrifices is the extra-curricular training under qualified supervision, that is given our youth.

These advantages are reflected in a higher caliber citizenry . . . a citizenry that realizes that by working together --- through service and leadership --- a better community can be built.



Much more physical activity can be accommodated in the new Y, as two gyms have been provided Pictured here is the smaller or auxiliary gymnasium which is 66'x40'.

Dr. George Bowman Now College President

Dedication Speaker Formerly Headed Schools Here

Dr George A. Bowman, main speaker at the dedication of the YMCA building Sunday is a former superintendent of Marion schools.

Now president of Kent State University, he was superintendent of schools here from 1929 to 1934. Before coming to Marion, he served as superintendent in Chillicothe. After leaving Marion he filled the same post in Lakewood and Youngstown, before becoming president of Kent State in 1940.

—:—

DURING DR. BOWMAN'S administration here the site of the new Harding High School was acquired. In addition, the Thomas A. Edison and George Washington schools were built, as were additions to the Mark St, North Main, Pearl, and Glenwood Schools

Less than one year after he arrived in Marion, the depression hit the country forcing teachers' salaries to new levels Payment of some salaries had to be delayed during the time because of the bank holiday but, Dr. Bowman recalls, the school board never had to resort to the issuance of "scrip" which some boards used instead of money at that time.

WHILE HERE in Marion, Dr Bowman was active on the board of trustees of the First Presbyterian Church. He was also chairman of the Community Chest drive, and was a member in the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, Red Cross, YMCA, and Boy Scout organization.

DR. GEORGE A. BOWMAN

When he arrived at Kent State University, enrollment was at its lowest ebb, 891 students Since, then, the number of students increased each year, finally reaching a record high in 1948-49 of 6,226 students.

At present, he is on the advisory council of the American Association of School Administrators, and is a member of the Foreign Policy Association, the Society for the Advancement of Education, Phi Delta Kappa, and Sigma Nu social fraternity.

HE IS ALSO a member of the Rotary Club, the Torch Club of Youngstown, and the Akron City and Twin Lakes Country Club. In addition, he is an honorary member of Kappa Delta Pi.

Dr. Bowman holds the degree of Doctor of Laws from Bowling Green State University. He received his Bachelor's degree from Adelbert College of Western Reserve University and his Master's degree from Columbia University.

He has also studied at Ohio University, Ohio State University, and Harvard University. He served for two years in the Engineers Corps of the U. S. Navy, from 1917 to 1919.

DR. BOWMAN'S teaching career began in a one room schoolhouse in South Bloomfield Township in Morrow County. Later he went to Zanesville after serving as teacher, principal and superintendent of schools in Edison.

While in Zanesville, he served as teacher and athletic director and later principal. It was there that he met his wife, the former Edith Duncan.

parking area. There will also be a special place where the youths may park their bicycles.

Architects for the new structure were Sims, Cornelius and Schooley of Columbus and Floyd G Browne and Associates of Marion. The National Council of the YMCA provided the consulting architects.

THE KNOWLTON Construction Co of Bellefontaine was the general contractor. Cochran Electric Co of Mt. Vernon was electrical contractor. Plumbing contracting was done by the E. W. File Co. of Lima Wisser and Gabler of Chillicothe were the heating and ventilating contractors.

Ground for the building was broken in May, 1952. The cornerstone was laid in a special ceremony on Sept. 21 the same year. Now, one and one-half years later, the building is completed and ready for use.

AS A PERSON walks through the halls and rooms of the new YMCA building, he can see plaques located in various spots on the walls

These plaques are dedicated to those persons who have given a donation which enabled the builders to completely equip or build one section or room of the building

These means of memorializing a family name or friend were devised by the building committee in an effort to spur persons to make contributions on a large scale

It was estimated at the beginning of the fund raising campaign that 60 per cent of the cost of the building would have to come from 10 per cent of the persons contributing to the fund.

This figure was arrived at by analysis of building programs in other localities. For this reason, campaigners tried to encourage large donations to the cause.

Small donations were asked for and readily accepted, but the board knew success of the project depended on large gifts.

MANY CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS and clubs have helped make the "Y" a success. They have contributed the amounts necessary to completely furnish and equip most of the dormitory rooms. In addition, many of the furnishings in the other parts of the building have been donated by these organizations.

They have contributed the furniture, drapes, and other accessories which give the rooms a pleasant atmosphere. Many of the donations have consisted in the furnishings themselves. Others have been cash with the specification that the board use the money to pay for furnishings.

Four County Students Win Scholarship Honors

Parking Space Is Provided at New Building

Parking will be no problem at the new YMCA building. Special places along both sides and the rear of the structure will accommodate 83 cars.

The parking area will be surfaced with rolled stone to provide a smooth driving surface. It can be reached by the alley behind the building.

This alley was acquired with the property and will be closed at one end to act as more of a driveway than thoroughfare.

When the site for the building was purchased, a house was included in the land. Present plans call for the renting of this house to tenants. However, should the need arise, the house may be torn down and the area converted to more space for parking.

Other land on the site of the building will be made into tennis and basketball courts.

Bicycles will no longer crowd the sidewalk in front of the YMCA. Special parking spots for bikes have been erected and are expected to relieve the condition.

Landscaping of Building Project of Garden Club

Landscaping at the new YMCA was a project of the Marion Garden Club. The group donated plants for both the inside and outside of the building.

Many species of plants were set around the three sides of the building and in two boxes in the main lobby of the building.

Last Quarter Business Prospects Appear Good

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business steps into the final 1953 quarter today with some persons so intent on a possible twist in the trail that they may be missing the view from the high plateau.

Reports now being released tend to stress slight cutbacks from previous records, or any slowing down in the rate of increase. The trend is important to businessmen, of course, since they have to guess ahead or find their planning has gone very sour. But at the moment business as a whole is doing mighty well.

Let's look at some of the reports released today: Industrial production as a whole, employment, steel production, oil production, electric power output, retail trade, business loans, consumer credit

The headlines are likely to stress the trend since a week ago or a month ago, or a high point in the spring. The actual figures, however, stay very high, and in most cases above those of this time a year ago.

Whatever the trend in this final business quarter of 1953, the start is from a very high plateau and the trail for the next three months appears to offer few sharp grades.

The industrial production index of the Federal Reserve Board slipped in September below the figure in August—a trend contrary to the usual one in the fall But the index is at 234 per cent of the 1935-39 average. And a year ago it stood at 228 per cent. Out put is still nicely higher than last year

Employment didn't pick up this fall as expected. But it's still at a record high Layoffs in some plants have been stressed. Total unemployment, however, is still far below what economists call normal. And some men who were laid off have since been recalled to their work.

Steel production this week is 95 per cent of capacity this week, compared with 106 per cent of capacity a year ago. But capacity is so much greater this year that the actual tonnge produced is almost the same. As the industry enters a period of keener competition U S Steel is going to pay some freight bills to hold distant customers But big steel officials say the state of the industry is still remarkably healthy.

Crude oil production is being cut back That is because the industry overproduced for a time this summer and its stocks climbed too high. But demand for oil products is running six per cent ahead of a year ago

HEADS SESQUI DRIVE

BUCYRUS—Robert M Morrison, head basketball and baseball coach at nearby Mt Zion High School, has been named Wyandot-Crawford County chairman for Ohio University's alumni sesquicentennial fund drive, which will be conducted next week Goal of the nation-wide drive is $150,000 with investment from the fund providing 60 annual scholarships.

The state treasury was paid $1,322 50 as its one-half share of fine, costs, and bond forfeitures collected on state highway patrol cases

The Marion County treasury received $286 and the Marion County Sheriff's office was paid $39 80 in milage and turn key fees

Some $199 was also paid to the city general fund from charges collected in the civil division of the court.

THE MEN'S HEALTH CLUB ROOM
. . . IN THE NEW YMCA

MR ARTHUR HAAS,
GENERAL SECRETARY OF THE NEW Y M C A.
has this to say about the new Men's Health Room in the "Y"!

"During the past fifteen years a new enterprise, the Health Service Department has been initiated by the YMCA. Keeping pace with the demands of a total Physical Education program for both sexes and all age groups, the Health Service program has been incorporated in the New Marion Building for men over 40 years of age. In no other period of our nation's history has so much emphasis been focused, designed and directed on individual health and better physical fitness for men in this crucial age bracket.

These are strenuous and exacting times which take their toll on many Particularly vulnerable are the business and professional men who by the nature of their work live constantly in a state of high nervous tension The Health Department with its massage service, steam baths, ultra-violet light baths aud recommended programs of mild work-outs in specially equipped exercise rooms and the Swimming Pool is a means where by the man over 40 may by passive means relieve the tension of modern living when sheer will-power cannot effect the same result.

From its very beginning the Physical Education program has been developed to meet the needs of boys and girls as well as younger men and women who need and desire more strenuous types of activities, The YMCA now offers as an adjunct to this progrm, the Health Service Department, which is specifically designed for BETTER HEALTH, MORE RELAXED LIVING AND HIGH PHYSICAL FITNESS for middle aged. men."

Activities of the Marion YMCA are directed by a four member staff headed by Arthur Haas, general secretary. Other members are Vern Miller, physical director; Marvin Ludwig, youth secretary; and Miss Marilyn Blass, women and girls secretary.

Haas has been associated with the local YMCA as general secretary four years, coming here from Springfield. He was men's division secretary at the Y there for several years after his discharge from the Navy.

A GRADUATE OF Wittenberg College in 1941, he took graduate work at George Williams College at Chicago, Ill. Haas served in the U. S. Naval Air Corps for 49 months during World War II. He was in the Navy from July 17, 1942 to March of 1945, being stationed in the United States most of that time but serving also on ships at sea. He was discharged with a lieutenant rating. He was employed by the local Y board of directors on Aug. 1, 1949, to succeed Earl N. Hale, who had retired.

Haas and his wife, the former Mary E. Schmitt of Springfield, and two children reside at 655 Irey Ave. Kipley, 8, is a third grader at Pearl Street School. Their son, Kurt, is four. Haas is an elder in the First Presbyterian Church, teacher of a Sunday School class there, and is a member of the Rotary Club and Y Men's Club. At Springfield High School, he was on the swimming and basketball teams.

MILLER IS the oldest in point of service among the secretaries at the Y here. He was employed in October of 1948, coming here from Buffalo, N. Y., where he was a coach and physical education instructor at a high school there.

He went to Baylor University and graduated from Springfield College, Mass., in 1946, taking graduate work there and obtaining his Master's degree. Miller served in the Marine Corps for three years, being discharged in 1946 with a first lieutenant rating.

At Perry High School in Pittsburgh, Pa., and in college, Miller lettered in basketball, baseball and swimming. He and his wife, the former Dorothy Hislop of Buffalo, N. Y., reside at 605 Blaine Ave.

HE IS A MEMBER of the Lions Club, secetary of the Mid Ohio Officials Association, member of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, Navy Club and American Legion.

Ludwig's previous YMCA experience was in Chicago, Ill. He was assistant physical education director at the Wilson Avenue YMCA for two years and directed Camp High Ridge in northern Illinois and Wilson Avenue Y Day Camp. He left the Chicago area YMCA in 1950 to come to Marion. Ludwig began his duties here Nov. 1, 1950 as boys work secretary but his title is now youth secretary in the new building where the YMCA program has been enlarged.

He attended North Park College in Chicago and was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1951 with a Bachelor of Arts degree. Ludwig took graduate work at George Williams College at Chicago. He was on the football, wrestling and swimming teams at Lakeview High School in Chicago and participated in football and track in college.

LUDWIG WAS discharged from the Marine Corps in October of 1946 after serving two years. His wife is the former Ruth Bjorkman of Waukegan, Ill. She also is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan. They reside at 1025 E. Center St. His parents are Rev. and Mrs. L. Harrison Ludwig. Rev. Ludwig is pastor of the Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church here of which Marvin is a member.

Miss Blass, who was employed here last July 5, is the first woman secretary on the staff of the local YMCA. Her home is in Hamburg, N. Y. where she was graduated from high school. She is a 1953 graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University with a Bachelor of Arts degree. There she was on the cabinet of the YWCA. During the past summers she had been day camp counselor at the Yonkers, N. 2 Ohioans Charge Violation of Civil Rights, File Suit

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Mansfield resident and an inmate of the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield filed federal court suits Thursday charging violation of civil rights.

Frank Cuiksa of Mansfield asked the court to declare null and void Mansfield's law for drunk and disorderly violations. He also asked $250,000 damages.

Cuiksa's complaint said he was arrested Nov. 6, 1950, on drunk and disorderly charges and was "beat, tortured and jerked about by police" there. Convicted on the charge, he was fined $50.

In his action, he contended the law was invalid because it failed to specify that the disorderly conduct must take place in a public place. He argued that the city does not have the right to police disorderly conduct in any location.

Named as defendant in the action were the city of Mansfield, Municipal Judge Glenn W. Marriott and four policemen.

The other action was entered by Paul Allen, the reformatory inmate, who also seeks $250,000. He is suing Robert L. Smith, former Summit County sheriff and members of the Ohio Pardon and Parole Board.

Allen was paroled from an auto theft term in 1947, but arrested two years later on a car thievery charge and returned to the reformatory although he was found innocent of the latter charge.

His chief contention was he was not under parole because his parole papers failed to specify a beginning or an end to his parole period.

First Called Young Men's Gospel Workers' Union

Marion YMCA Had Beginning in 1891

The YMCA in Marion has had a successful history almost from its beginning in 1891. On Feb. 7 that year, a small group of men gathered in the Free Baptist Church. They formed what was then known as the Young Men's Gospel Workers' Union (YMGWU).

They held several meetings during the winter but disbanded in the summer. The following fall, they again organized with a stronger force. W. J. Grills was chosen to be the first president of the group. Other officers were T. H. B. Beale, vice president; Victor Jump, secretary; and H. Meredith, treasurer.

Delegates to the state convention of the Young Men's Christian Association were invited from the Marion group. The delegates who attended the meeting were so enthusiastic they instituted steps to change the YMGWU into the YMCA.

SIXTY MEMBERS of the original group immediately agreed to become members of the YMCA, paying dues of five dollars a year. Within a short time, some 300 other persons indicated their desire to become members of the "Y". On April 13, 1892, a meeting of businessmen and the secretary of the state YMCA, L. L. Doggett, was held at the courthouse. At this time, 530 names had been signed to membership applications.

At the meeting, it was decided to organize into a YMCA body and rent rooms to hold meetings. Renting was not needed, though, when Amos H. Kling offered to donate the ground for a YMCA building. If $15,000 could be raised within 30 days, he said, he would give the group a plot of land on which to construct their building.

THE ORIGINAL money was raised by means of a public subscription similar to the one which was conducted for the new structure. The first estimate fell far below the needed amount, though. When the building was completed, it was found to have cost $45,000.

The old building served its purpose for more than sixty years. During the greater part of that time, most of the persons who used its facilities were men.

With the close of World War II, though, more and more women began to visit the structure on S. State St. to participate in the activities of the "Y."

A girls' section of the YMCA was organized at the high school. The Tri-Hi-Y gave the high school girls an opportunity to take an active part in YMCA activities.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES were set up to handle the needs of the younger and older girls. Special craft groups were organized to teach the younger ones to use their natural talents. Other classes and affairs were arranged to satisfy the needs and desires of older women.

When the subject of a new building was first brought up, one of the big things decided was to build it so that both men and women could use the facilities at the same time.

The evolution from strictly a male membership to one including women had been gradual until the war. It was greatly speeded up after the war and has now become a commonplace.

Increased Program Asked at Delaware Employment Office

Special to The Star

DELAWARE — Chamber of Commerce directors and several representatives from industries here are carrying on a movement to increase a proposed two-days-a-week to a four or five-day operation schedule at the Employment Center.

Delaware officials met Wednesday with Fred Scherff, manager of the Marion district BUC, to discuss having the office open more days, but about the same number of hours.

In an economy move, made necessary by a slash in appropriation, the Delaware office was ordered closed Sept. 30, and the Marion district personnel was to take charge of the service there in a one-day schedule. The plan was protested by a Delaware committee, which conferred with the administrator of the Ohio BUC in Columbus, Ernest Cornell, and it was agreed that the Marion office would send representatives to Delaware on Wednesdays and Thursdays.

On Wednesday, Scherff and some 20 Chamber of Commerce directors and representatives from Delaware industry discussed having the office open more days to extend the center's service over more of the week.

Scherff said the state BUC administrator had already assured him that the Delaware office would be restored to permanent status should the appropriation be increased in the future. Discussion of a different office space location was also held at the Wednesday meeting. It was suggested that the increased operation schedule might be established more easily if the rent for the office room could be saved.

Rhodes Heads Off Draft for Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rep. James J. Barton (R—Cuyahoga) Thursday announced a drive to draft State Auditor James A. Rhodes as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

Rhodes, former Columbus mayor, promptly stifled Barton's attempt. "I appreciate the kind and gracious thoughts that you have of me," Rhodes told Barton, "but at this time I cannot permit anyone to circulate petitions or attempt a draft."

Barton said he had sent some 300 nominating petitions to GOP county chairmen, and other party officials throughout the state.

NO STATE BANK CALL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state division of banks said Friday it was not issuing a state bank call "this time." In Washington, the comptroller of the currency today issued a call for condition of all national banks at the close of business Wednesday, Sept. 30.

U.S.-Born Sons of Old Erin Are More Sensitive, Actress Reports

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Show an Irishman in Dublin a play about a bunch of drunken, sloppy sons of Erin and he may think it's the funniest thing he ever saw.

But show the same play to an Irish-American and he'll throw things at you.

That's what actress - director Maureen Halligan, in town with the Dublin Players, said today.

"You people over here are very sensitive people, indeed," she added.

Miss Halligan and her husband, Roland Ibbs, have brought an Irish repertory company to this country for the first time in nearly 20 years. Their troupe opened in Washington this week and will be on view across the nation for the next nine months.

The subject of Irish sensitivty cropped up after the opening performance of John Millington Synge's "Playboy of the Western World," a classic Irish comedy which offers some hilarious scenes of unkempt citizens of County Mayo in their cups.

"I suppose we set some sort of record when no one threw anything at us," Miss Halligan said after the show.

"I've been in the play in this country before, and performances in Boston and Philadelphia—they have big Irish populations there—ended in riots."

"Perhaps," she suggested, "the Irishmen who live in Washington are more polite."

Miss Halligan had other observations about Americans:

"Your people are quite classical in taste. They would rather see old standbys, like Shaw and Synge, than modern Irish plays.

"I would love to do some of our contemporary comedies, but I'm afraid they wouldn't have much success. For one thing, Americans wouldn't understand the political connotations and the jokes about relations between England and Ireland."

All of which called to mind a somewhat different comment on the same subject by Winston Churchill. The British Prime Minister, on his last visit to Washington more than a year ago, was asked about Anglo-Irish relations.

"I never discuss American politics," he replied with a grin.

Home Builders To Hear Official of Association

Nicholas F. Molnar of Cleveland, second vice president of the National Association of Home Builders, will deliver the key address during the Nov. 22-24 convention of the Ohio Home Builders Association, according to Frank Warwick, president of the Marion Home Builders Association.

The 10th anniversary convention will be held at the Mayflower Hotel in Akron. A number of Marion men are planning to attend.

AUTO CRASH FATAL

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—Francis E. Shoemaker, 34, of nearby Sedalia died of injuries received when the car he was driving left Ohio 323 and smashed into a culvert one one mile west of Sedalia Thursday.

There were about 100,000 cigar store Indians in the United States in 1900 but only about 3,000 are left says the National Geographic Society.

Man Starts Sentence With Clear Conscience

OMAHA (AP)—Wallace Case, 57, was starting a 5-year Nebraska penitentiary sentence today with a clear conscience.

Case yesterday agreed to plead guilty to writing $591.60 in bad checks if detectives would pay back his victims with money Case had in his possession when arrested. Detectives agreed.

The money, more than $1,000, apparently represented gambling winnings, court officials said.

Has Your Doctor Ordered You to Quit Climbing Stairs?

There is a minimum of climbing in this home. The carpeted bedrooms down make it unnecessary to use the two upstairs bedrooms except for guests. With no basement stairs to go up and down YOU ADD FIVE YEARS TO YOUR LIFE. A large utility room instead saves the housewife's energy and finds her in a good disposition when you come home in the evening.

If You Are a Young Family

with growing children, this is an ideal place to raise them — away from dangerous traffic — You can watch them at play through the large picture windows framing the front and back yard. The Claridon School bus picks them up and brings them back right to your door.

Young and Old Alike

will find everything they need in this sturdy brick combining the conventional with the contemporary

Study Conducted On 'Skin' of Teeth

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Dr Louis J. Baume, assistant professor of dental medicine in the University of California College of new findings about the "skin of your teeth."

The "skin," an enamel cuticle covering the enamel proper of the teeth, is formed almost literally at the last minute before the tooth erupts, Baume says.

The new finding not only throws new light on the formation of new light on the formation of teeth, but it also may show how nature opens the way to a predisposition to tooth decay.

The "skin" is colorless, calcified, and about 1,000th of an inch thick. It constitutes the outermost defection,decay,an fense wall of the tooth against infection, decay, and injury.

Scientists had believed that the cuticle is formed fairly early in the development of the teeth, long before they erupt. Baume found, however, that the cuticle does not develop until just before the tooth cuts the gum.

Baume studied the structures of teeth extracted from young monkeys before, during and after tooth eruption. He used a new tool, the phase contrast microscope which enabled him to see more detail of the structures than was possible with earlier techniques.

'Old Fashioned' Truant Officer Hit by Official

ITHACA, N.Y. (UP.)—"old-fashioned" truant officers are in part to blame for juvenile delinquency, according to State Sen. Thomas C Desmond.

The Newburgh REPUBLICAN FROWNS ON STRO

frowns on strong-arm methods of keeping children in school. He believes modern "attendance teachers" should be trained in psychology.

"The goal of the attendance teacher is not to shackle a child to a school seat, but to ferret out causes of persistent hookey-playing," said Desmond. "Today's truant is likely to represent a tangle of warped motional reactions, the product of deep-rooted disturbances, broken or poverty-stricken homes."

The legislator, who wants a law passed requiring psychology training for truant officers, believes the old-fashioned officer aggravates juvenile delinquency, crime and dependency.

Some Indians receive government checks in payment of rental of their lands, but no Indian receives a pension just because he is an Indian.
